

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 1945

Chapter 1945

"There's nothing else to talk about! Mister Thompson, this has nothing to do with you and the Thompsons. I hope you won't interfere with this!

Otherwise, I'll make sure to have my grandfather go to your family to ask for an explanation!" Dawn said without holding back... Her tone was very firm, leaving no room for doubt.

"That-" Yuri was rendered speechless!

After all, what Dawn said was true. This matter was between Leon and the Hughes. No matter what, it had nothing to do with the Thompsons at all!

If he tried to forcibly insert himself into the matter, it would be a bit inappropriate!

"Lucius, hurry up and kill Leon and Snow! Take revenge for my brother!" Dawn no longer cared about Yuri as she ordered Lucius.

"Yes!" Lucius answered. After that, he walked past the old man in the green shirt and walked right for Leon.

The old man did not know if he needed to continue stopping Lucius or not. He turned to Yuri and waited for orders.

"Uncle, stop him!" After Yuri hesitated for a moment, he immediately issued the order.

Even though the matter had nothing to do with the Thompsons, they still owed Leon a lot. He could not just watch as Lucius attacked Leon without him doing anything!

Furthermore, Darius was his good friend. Darius was dead without rhyme or reason, and the culprit could very well be Gordon!

He needed to properly look into this to appease Darius's spirit!

Before the truth was completely revealed, he would not let Leon shoulder the blame and let Gordon slip away!

"Yes!" With Yuri's order, the old man immediately stopped Lucius, and the two of them started to fight!

Of course, the old man was an expert at the Almighty State. He was stronger than Lucius, and there was no way Lucius was a match for him!

However, his goal was just to stop Lucius from attacking Leon, and not to go against the Hughes.

He quickly stopped Lucius, but did not hurt Lucius at all!

"Mister Thompson, don't think you can just do whatever you want! You're a good friend of Darius, but you're not going against us! It's one thing for you to not help him get revenge, but you're even protecting his killer! How are you ever going to face him again?!" Dawn said furiously.

"Miss Hughes, I can understand how you feel! However, before we can look into the matter properly, it's still too early to determine who the killer is! I'll make sure I look into the truth and find the killer. Then, I'll give the Hughes a satisfactory explanation!"

After saying that, Yuri paused before he looked at Leon, saying, "Mister Thompson, Miss Hughes is too angry right now. There's no point in you staying here! It'll help you stop her and Lucius. Leave here first, then we can talk about things after!"

"Yes, that's fine. However, I have something to do before we leave!" Leon said before he walked to Gordon and Dawn!

Dawn was already sure that Leon and Snow were the ones who killed Darius, so there was no longer any point in Leon staying there!

With that in mind, what he needed to do the most was to hurry up and bring Darius away. Only then could he figure out a way to save Darius!

As long as he could save Darius, the truth would be revealed!

Then, he and Snow would not need to shoulder the blame!
