

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2439

Chapter 2439

In one evening, Leon and his confidantes returned from work and the nanny prepared dinner, so they all sat down for a meal in the dining room.

Just then, Leon's phone rang and he took it out to find that it was a call from Hugo.

"Hello, Mister Morrison, how can I help you?" Leon cut to the chase as soon as he answered the call, having a vague idea of how Hugo was calling.

Back in the second sales drive for Cynthion Group, Hugo traveled from the western region to participate in the event and purchased some Energy Nurturing Pills. Once he witnessed the power of alchemical pills, he requested a business collaboration with Cynthion Group, wanting to help expand its market in the western region.

At the time, Leon was short on herbs and the demand for the alchemical pills was tremendous, so he wanted to turn Hugo down. However, Hugo proposed to collect the necessary herbs for him instead, which led to a change of mind.

Leon gave Hugo a list of herbs at the time and the two confirmed the will for a collaboration.

Since Hugo was calling, Leon assumed that he was calling about the collaboration.

"Oh, here's the thing, Mister Wolf. I've collected all the herbs you need and I'm wondering what to do with them. Should I have them delivered to the southern region for you, or will you come to the western region to collect them?" Hugo asked.

Like Leon predicted, Hugo already gathered all the herbs he needed and called to notify Leon about it, before asking about his plan.

"Um, I'll go to the western region myself, then!" Leon said after a moment of consideration.

Cynthion Group and Elegante Group planted their roots in the southern region and both achieved great accomplishments.

Elegante Group even rose to the top cosmetic company in the area, so it was time to start considering an expansion to other regions.

Taking the opportunity of the collaboration with Hugo, Leon decided to visit the western region to navigate the area to look for a chance to expand his business there.

Once he successfully captured the market in the western region, he could consider expanding to other regions.

This fitted perfectly with the development plan for Elegante Group and Cynthion Group.

Furthermore, ever since he injured the Southern Boss, the Southern Boss vanished.

Thankfully, the Dragon Guards were capable enough to conclude that the Southern Boss likely escaped to the western region, despite failing to find him.

Alfred informed Leon about this finding a few days ago, so Leon intended to go to the western region to search for any clue related to the Southern Boss's whereabouts.

If he was lucky enough to track the Southern Boss down, he could take the opportunity to eliminate him once and for all.

"Sure! Mister Wolf, when are you coming? I'll come pick you up," Hugo asked.

"Tomorrow! I'll call you once I arrive," Leon said.

With that said, the two ended the call.
