Chapter 2462

Meanwhile, on Leon's end.

Accompanied by Renee, he arrived at the best five-star hotel in the area and reserved a presidential suite.

Inside the room, he set his luggage down and turned to look at Renee. "Miss Morrison, thank you. I'm all settled here, so you can go home now."

"There's no hurry! Mister Wolf, there's something I'd like to ask you; Jaxon Feaks from the Feaks will host a business banquet tonight. He invited a lot of elite members of the community, so I'm wondering if you are interested in attending that," Renee said hesitantly.

"Business banquet? I'm not interested!" Leon was taken aback and instinctively shook her head. Though he did not know what kind of business banquet Renee was speaking of, he could imagine that the elites merely had to socialize or discuss business.

He did not know many people in the western region, let alone members of the western region elite community, so he had no interest in participating.

"Hold that thought! The Feaks are one of the major herb merchants here, and they make a living by selling herbs and medical equipment. Mister Feaks is hosting this banquet mainly to auction off some precious herbs and I even heard there are spiritual herbs," Renee explained.

The western region was different from the southern region in terms of its geographical features. The area was surrounded by mountains and forests that produced herbs, so it was considered heaven for all of those who came searching for specific herbs.

In any other region in Sky County, herbs that grew for centuries were rare, but these could be easily discovered in the western region. Now and then, extremely rare spiritual herbs would be found.

This was precisely how Hugo managed to gather all the herbs Leon needed within 2 weeks.

Also, all spiritual herbs grew absorbing energy from the earth and if ordinary people took them, they would prolong their lifespan.

For martial artists, long-term consumption of such herbs would help with their training.

Herbs like the Sunlit Herb and motherwort were even more beneficial for martial artists.

The Poisonwielder took risks and committed mass murder for the sake of a motherwort, in the hope of breaking through the bottleneck of his training with it.

Naturally, consuming the herb on its own could not compare with consuming the alchemical pills Leon produced, but it would help to some extent.

In conclusion, these precious herbs were useful to martial artists as they could strengthen the foundations of younger martial artists in the family and allow them a smoother path in the training that followed.

As an ancient family of martial artists, the Feaks made a living as herb merchants as well. Hence, they were hosting this banquet to profit financially by selling rare herbs and building a connection with the elites to increase their family's influence.
