

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2007

Chapter 2007

"What? We can't go after the Poisonwielder?! Why not?" Fletcher and other members of the western region branch gaped at Leon in disbelief.

The Poisonwielder just fled the Tiddertons Mansion and should not have gone far, so it was the perfect chance for them to go after him and none of them understood why Leon would refuse to cooperate.

Since Leon was the leader of the reinforcement from the southern region, Scott and the others had to obey him. If the reinforcement team refused to help, the members from the western region alone would not be sufficient to eliminate the Poisonwielder.

"M- Mister Wolf, I'm begging you! My grandson has been taken. Please have mercy and save him," Elder Tidderton pleaded.

He did not understand why Leon would refuse to go after the Poisonwielder but knew for certain that without the Dragon Corps' help, his grandson would likely perish in the hand of the Poisonwielder.

The longer they waited, the more dangerous the situation would be for his grandson, so Elder Tidderton's heart was racing with anxiety.

"Mister Wolf, if you are scared of dying, you can stay here in the Tiddertons Mansion!"

"Please give your command so that Scott and the others can assist our mission, though!"

The frustration toward Leon amongst the members of the western region Dragon Corps reached its peak as they assumed that Leon was reluctant to go after the Poisonwielder because he was afraid of the Reaper's Breath.

Apart from the possibility of Leon being a coward, they could not see why he would reject the plan.

"Mister Wolf, it's now or never! The Poisonwielder shouldn't have gone far. Please give us your order so that we can go after him along with the western branch! If we wait around too long, it will all be too late!" Scott urged in frustration.

He was forced to obey Leon even though Leon shot unreasonable commands at them and purposefully disagreed with members of the western region Dragon Corps.

However, the Poisonwielder showed himself, yet Leon refused to cooperate with Fletcher and the others, which annoyed everyone including Scott, Chad, and Jerry.

Oliver and Abraham, on the other hand, were Leon's direct subordinates and trusted him all along, so the two did not protest Leon's decision.

"Everyone, please listen! The Poisonwielder is here for the motherwort. If all of us go after him, we will leave the Tiddertons defenseless. If he has been waiting for a chance to circle back then, the consequences would be unbearable," Leon remained calm despite being doubted and explained.

It was not the fear of death that stopped him from going after the Poisonwielder, but the concern that the Poisonwielder might be trying to lure the Dragon Corps member out of the Tiddertons Mansion.

Without the Dragon Corps' protection, the Tiddertons would be vulnerable and the Poisonwielder might easily obtain the motherwort.

Should that happen, the plan to eliminate the Poisonwielder would fail.
