

An Understated Dominance by Marina Vittori Chapter 2011

Chapter 1999

“Come here! Smash this mural!”

Upon hearing Margaret’s order, many of the guards immediately took out their weapons and started smashing the mural.

“Bang bang bang...”

Along with a burst of explosions, the mural was immediately smashed into pieces, and various fragments scattered to the ground.

However, when the mural was destroyed, a simple and solid bronze door was revealed.

In the middle of the bronze door is an eye the size of a fist.

The eyes are dark red, as if they were polished from a ruby.

With the eye as the center, the entire bronze door is divided into eight areas, spread out in a fan shape, and each area is painted with different patterns.

There are also some tadpole-like characters engraved on it, which are crooked and very weird.

“Miss?”

The guard captain looked back at Margaret with a hint of questioning.

The ruby eye on the bronze door looked very valuable, and he did not dare to act rashly.

“It’s all smashed!”

Margaret said nothing nonsense.

Now that we are sure that there is something else behind the door, we naturally cannot give up easily.

As for a ruby, she didn't take it seriously yet.

"Smash it!"

the guard captain gestured.

A group of people immediately started to attack the guy again and started to chop and smash the bronze door.

There was only a "clang" sound, and more than a dozen people took turns to smash the bronze door frantically for several minutes, but it had no effect at all.

The thick bronze door is like an unshakable mountain, leaving people helpless.

"Damn it! How could this happen? It can't be cut."

"What kind of material is this door made of? I broke it with my hammer, but it was not damaged at all. It's so hard!"

Looking at the unmoved door. At the bronze door, many guards looked at each other for a moment, at a loss.

They had just tried their best and used everything they could. The weapons were broken and rolled, but in the end it had no effect.

"Use explosives!"

the guard captain gave the order immediately.

Since weapons are useless, let's try using explosives from the mountains.

He didn't believe that a mere bronze door could withstand the bombardment of explosives.

"Everyone, please stay away to avoid being accidentally injured."

Under the arrangement of the guard captain, the explosives were quickly deployed.

With a loud “boom”, the entire palace began to shake and shake.

For a time, smoke and dust were everywhere, and gravel was scattered everywhere.

When all the dust settled, the scene in front of them made everyone change their expressions.

Because they were surprised to find that the bronze door was still intact after the explosion, with no sign of opening.

The walls of the palace thus revealed their metal bodies, which were made of the same material as the bronze doors.

“What the hell! You didn’t even use explosives?”

The guards were all dumbfounded. You looked at me and I looked at you, a little at a loss.

Even if their weapons couldn’t break the bronze door, they didn’t expect that even the explosives couldn’t blast it. It was really shocking.

“Miss, there’s something weird about this bronze door. It seems we have to outsmart it.” The guard captain’s face was a little solemn.
