

After Prison 441

Chapter 441

Candy, what nonsense are you talking about?” Candy’s statement gave Lauren a fright. It was the Supreme Leader that she was talking about. How could she act so rudely and talk in that tone? What if the Supreme Leader was unhappy with that? What were they going to do?

Severin smiled faintly. “Never mind. I’m fine with it. Oh, do you guys have any money on you? If not, I can give you some. It’s very late now and you can only get a hotel room to stay for the night.”

“No, we’re good. We have money!” Lauren replied.

Lauren’s warning did not take any effect on Candy. She continued as she looked at the huge villa. “Umm...are you sure there’s no empty room in this big villa of yours? We can just stay here for the being.”

Lauren gave Candy a glare and said, “Candy, how could you talk to the Supreme Leader in this manner? Just listen to him and don’t ask anything that you shouldn’t. Do you understand what I just said?”

Finally, Candy realized what she just did. “I’m sorry, Supreme Leader. Please forgive me for my rudeness. It’s just that it’s quite late now...”

Severin scoffed. “My wife and my parents do not know that I’m the Supreme Leader of Dracodeus Temple and they didn’t know I’m the boss of the Draco Hall too. So it’s going to be hard to explain to them if I let you stay here.”

“That’s right! How is the Supreme Leader going to explain it to his wife? Especially when he’s bringing back two women to stay in the house! Supreme Leader, go get some rest. We’re leaving!”

After Lauren finished talking, she saluted respectfully.

“Okay. You guys go get some rest too!”

Severin waved. Shortly, Lauren and Candy left too.

“Gosh. I never expect the person Blood-Drinker Gang wants us to kill turns out to be the Supreme Leader of Dracodeus Temple!”

Lauren was still overwhelmed with the outcome as they left Severin’s villa.

Candy said, “I bet he didn’t use his power when he fought me with his punch just now. Otherwise, I’m dead by now.”

Lauren chuckled. “I never think the Supreme Leader is such a young guy!”

“Yes. Young and handsome!” Candy agreed. It was quickly followed by a sigh. “Too bad, he’s already married. He’s so young, handsome, and the Supreme Leader! Maybe I have a chance if he’s not married!”

“Gosh, girl! Did he successfully mesmerize you?”

Lauren was shocked because this was the first time she heard of Candy having any interest in a man.

Candy smiled faintly. "Hey! What do you mean by that? I mean he's so handsome and capable.

Who doesn't like him?"

As they were talking, they found a motel to stay for the night. At the same time, Lucy, Cain, and the others had just finished drinking and were leaving the bar. They bid each other goodbye and left to go back to their own homes.

Chapter 442

"Lucy, look. There's a hotel over there. Why don't we spend the night there?"

When everyone else left, Cain approached Lucy and hugged Lucy from the side with his arm around her waist. He gazed at her long legs. They looked even more seducing because she was wearing pantyhose.

Despite her real personality, Lucy pretended to be a gracious lady and said, "Hey, we just met after a long time and I have just become your girlfriend. I don't think is that nice for us to spend the first night together in the hotel. Besides, you promise me a villa and I haven't gotten it yet!"

Cain brought her closer to him and said, "Honey, don't worry. It's just a villa. I have nothing but money. Look at the time, it's late. Let's go rest now. I shall buy you a villa tomorrow morning. Alright?"

"Umm...alright." Lucy agreed reluctantly. "I think I drank too much. My head is dizzy. You're right. We should go to a hotel and rest early."

Cain hugged her from the side and was feeling thrilled. "Yes, yes, yes. We need to rest early. Even in my dream, I hope to have you sleep in my arms!"

While at it, Lucy was thinking of something and said, "Severin is so mean! He always made me end up in an embarrassing situation. Last time he destroyed my wedding and I was humiliated. again today! Damn him! But he's too good. We hired many assassins to kill him but he was the one who killed the assassins!"

Cain frowned and asked, "You want to kill him? Seriously? But you guys were together and in love with each other for many years!"

Lucy said, "Hmph! That didn't bother him at all. He even hit me in front of everyone and asked me to apologize to him. I want him dead since a long time ago!"

Cain sneered. "If you want him dead so badly, then I'll help you!"

Lucy gave Cain a doubtful look. "You? Forget about it. He's really very good at fighting. And he also hires some bodyguards to protect his family. I heard he is in a very good connection with the Hall Master of Draco Hall. It's really a hard task to kill him!"

Cain smiled cynically. "Hehe. Don't worry. Do you think all I did overseas is just work? I have men under me that I can use. If I want, I can have Brookbourn under my control easily. Lucy, don't underestimate me. I'm the new Cain."

"Really" Lucy's eyes sparkled. "Are you really that powerful now?"

“Of course. Why should I lie to you? Just tell me when anyone crosses you. I’ll be honored to kill that person for you.” Cain smiled and explained, “I was trying to keep a low profile because it was a gathering between classmates. So I didn’t bring any men with me. Mainly because I didn’t think it was necessary too.”

“Cain Bryne! I have no idea how extraordinary you are!” Joyous feelings overwhelmed Lucy’s heart. It looked like she had made the right choice this time.

In the beginning, she was reluctant to be Cain’s girlfriend after Severin rejected her. Based on the current situation, Cain was loaded with money. He even said he could be in control of Brookbourn if he

Although Lucy thought that was exaggerating, at least it said Cain was richer than she imagined.

“Then, can I ask how rich you are?” Lucy asked eagerly.

Cain’s face turned sullen. “Now it’s not the appropriate time to ask that question. Anyway, I will buy you anything that you want. Come on, let’s go get ourselves a hotel room!”

“Look at you. Acting like a pervert!” Lucy rolled her eyes at Cain. Yet, she had a sweet smile on her face.

Cain pinched her bottom. “Hehe. Really? I’m going to show you what a pervert really looks like!”

Chapter 443

Just when the sun was rising the next morning, Severin was up. After he freshened himself, he woke Diane up so they could go to the Shanahans together. When they arrived, Megan was already waiting for them.

“Hehe. Grandma had me prepare two invitation cards. I mean the war chief, Mister Valerian does not know us anyway. Diane and I could each give one invitation card out. That’s going to double our chances!”

Megan got into the car and waved the invitation card in her hand. Severin chuckled. ”

Catherine is so smart. But I think most of the upper-class families are going to do the same thing.”

“Oh well. At least we try. If we don’t go, we have no chance at all,” Megan sighed.

Being in the backseat of the car, she pondered and said, “Oh, Severin! Do you know how happy Mom is after you transfer the dowry to her? She was so happy that she jumped into the air a few times. For the next few days, she kept smiling cheerfully and brightly. Every time she saw her friends, all she talked about was the dowry you gave her!”

Severin chuckled. “Oh! I remember someone swore that she would wash my feet for me if I gave the dowry within the time frame. Has she forgotten about that?”

Diane burst out in laughter.

On the contrary, Megan felt shameful. “Severin, you remember that? I thought you have forgotten it. I think let’s forget about that. Of course, you’re not going to make me wash your feet, right? What would other people think of that if they know it?”

Diane chuckled. "What's wrong with that? You're just washing his feet. Besides, we can close all the doors and windows when you're washing. Don't worry. We won't tell anyone so no one is going to know about it."

"Diane, you..." Megan was speechless..

"Haha! It's alright. Just be nice to me!" Severin laughed out loud seeing how embarrassed Megan was.

"Sure! That's not a problem!" Immediately, Megan promised.

Soon, they arrived at the airport. There were already many people waiting. Brookbourn Mansion had arranged for many personnel to blockade the square to maintain put blockades around the square to maintain order. Like many others from upper-class families and businessmen, they waited outside of the airport.

"Gosh, I actually have the chance to see the war chief, Mister Valerian today!"

"I know! He's the right-hand man to Warren Siegfried. I heard he is so powerful that he could easily kill a bull with a punch!"

"A bull? That's easy. Even killing the elephant with a punch is a piece of cake to him!"

Many people started to discuss how strong Valerian was while waiting in the square. Everyone was looking forward to meeting the legendary Mister Valerian. Brookbourn was a small city. It was the first time the city had a powerful person coming here.

"Mister Severin! You're here!"

Chapter 444

Severin was walking over with Diane and Megan. At that time, Robin noticed that he was there and came to greet him with a smile.

"Oh my god! is that the guy who just married one of the daughters from the Shanahans? Robin Zelanko is talking to him! He's really good with women!"

One guy looked envious when he saw the scene. Famous for her cold personality, Robin hardly took the initiative to greet anyone.

"Hey. I thought we are early. It amazed me to see so many people arrive so much earlier than us!" Severin smiled helplessly knowing the square was already full of people.

"Haha! Severin! You're here too!" Henry came over when he discovered Severin.

Charmaine too, followed behind Henry. She gave Severin a faint smile. "Hi, Mister Severin. It's been a long time since we last see each other. You're looking more charming than before."

Severin replied politely, "The same goes for you too, Miss Charmaine. You're looking splendid and very feminine today."

The compliment had Charmaine blushing shyly.

Just then, Sheila also discovered Severin was in the square. She ran over and gave Severin a big hug. "Hey, handsome, you're here! Hehe. I haven't seen you for quite a while and I miss you so much!"

Severin's mouth twitched a few times. It was just yesterday afternoon they were drinking together. Sheila also let the alcohol control her by drinking too much which she blabbered on and on. Why would she say they had not seen each other for a long time when they just met yesterday?

Not to mention, the big hug she gave him when everyone was watching. How inappropriate it was to engage in such an intimate act in public! Albeit, the silly girl quickly let go of him and kept a fair distance away from him after the hug. There was nothing he could say. And it was going to look weird if he scolded her.

"Sheila, we just met yesterday." Megan was a very simple girl. She asked, "Have you forgotten that we drank together yesterday?"

Sheila replied, "Megan, I feel like one day lasts as long as three years when we can't see each other. That means we haven't seen each other for three years. Isn't that a long time?"

Diane was surprised upon hearing that. She did not know what reaction should she have. Cry or laugh about it? Robin and Charmaine exchanged looks with each other. It kinda startled them to know Sheila was so bold to give Severin a big hug. They wondered if she was not afraid that other people might gossip about her action.

"Gosh! That man received a big hug from Miss Sheila! Who the hell is he? Damn it. I'm so jealous of him! Is it because he's a charming dude? Damn it! I can't accept this!"

A rich kid became a green-eyed monster when he saw what happened. He did not know who Severin was.

"Hehe. Didn't you see he was here together with Diane and Megan? That said he's Diane's husband. The one who just got out of jail"

The rich kid could not believe it. "What? The one who hit Easton and got sent to jail? Is he really that popular now? Oh my god. What kind of world is this? Look at us. We are educated, well-mannered, charming, and rich. I don't see any beautiful women surrounding us! This just doesn't make sense!"

"Why are there so many beautiful women beside him?"

Jada arrived which meant Quintus was here too. He witnessed that scene. His mood became gloomy as he clenched his fist tightly to show his resentment.

Chapter 445

"It was pure luck that he gets to know those people just because he could please them with that little medical knowledge he got!"

Jada scoffed. She gave Severin a deadly stare with a desire to chop Severin into pieces.

"The woman in the white dress. Is that Diane Shanahan?"

Quintus took a closer look. He found out the woman in the white dress looked very elegant and gracious. It strengthened the desire in his mind.

“Yes. That’s Diane Shanahan and the one beside her is Megan Shanahan.” Jada did not know the evil thought in Quintus’ mind and started to introduce them to him.

“Both of them are so pretty. So are the other girls. Wow, for a small city like Brookbourn, there are a lot of beautiful girls,” Quintus said faintly.

Upon hearing that, Jada was finally feeling discontented. With an angry tone, she complained, “So are you saying your fiancée is not as pretty as them?”

“No, no, no. How can you compare yourself with them? You’re the prettiest girl in my heart!” Quintus said in a hurry.

Jada was satisfied with the answer that she let out a smile. “Hmph! That’s more like it.”

Quintus sneered in his heart as he glared at Severin. ‘You better enjoy while you still can. I’m going to grab an opportunity to steal your wife from you and sleep with her! I can’t wait to see the look on your face when you found out your wife cheated on you! Do you think you can defeat me? In your dream!!

At the same time, Severin was feeling embarrassed after receiving a big hug from Sheila.

Since Zachariah was there, he said, “Miss Sheila, you’re the young miss of Brookbourn Mansion. You must watch what you said. And it’s inappropriate to hug a man in public. Your father is not going to be happy about that!”

Severin remembered very well. Zachariah looked down on him because he once served jail time. Even when Severin saved his life before, he had the plan to marry Sheila to someone from an upper-class family. That was why Severin said that. He was hoping Zachariah could take his side and give Sheila a lecture.

Albeit, Zachariah’s reaction was not what Severin expected. “Haha. It’s alright, it’s alright. That’s my Sheila. She’s a cheerful and active girl. It’s just a hug. You’re not going to get hurt. with it or pregnant.”

It startled Severin vehemently that blood nearly rushed up his throat. What was going on with Zachariah today? Severin had a feeling Zachariah’s attitude had changed. Totally not the same. person Zachariah was when Severin met him in Brookbourn Mansion.

That was not the worst part. Zenoah shared his opinion. “You are a young and talented young man. You and Sheila make a perfectly good couple. It’s just a hug and it won’t do any serious. damage to you.”

Severin was speechless. Sheila tilted her chin upward and looked at Severin pleasingly. “So what? My dad and uncle think it’s alright. What’s wrong with me giving you a hug? There are so many people who want me to hug them so badly. Why are you complaining about it?” “It’s here. It’s here! Look, over there! The plane is here!”

“Oh my god! There are a few fighter aircraft protecting it!”

Someone heard the sound of the airplane and looked up in the sky. Soon, Valerian’s private jet landed on the ground. Everyone watched eagerly at the exit of the plane. Finally, Valerian left the plane under the protection of several armed special forces soldiers. The people who followed behind him were his bodyguards. Last but not least, Keagan and Linette were at the end of the line.

“Mister Valerian!”

“Welcome, Mister Valerian!”

Chapter 446

“Come visit us when you have the time, Mister Valerian! This is our invitation card! I hope you’ll do us the honor of gracing us with your presence!”

Many upper-class families were excited. Valerian was already in his fifties, but he still had an air of grandeur to him, and his chiseled face had a robustly energetic charm to it. He smiled, slightly and stretched out his hand to greet everyone, drawing excited screams from some of the young women there.

Before long, Valerian was standing right in front of everyone. “You don’t need to send me off. It’s fine to have only a few men coming along with us. I don’t require the protection of so many people!” He said with a wry smile to a middle-aged man as he looked at the special forces who all had weapons in their hands.

“All right then. We’ll head back!” The middle-aged man nodded, and then quickly left here, with the special forces.

“Where are the Ballards?” Valerian could not help but remark when the other people left.

“We’re here, war chief. My name is Zachariah, and I’m the leader of Brookbourn Mansion! This is my younger brother, Zenoah!” Zachariah immediately ran over with Zenoah, Sheila, and the rest of the Ballards. He then bowed to Valerian and did not dare to look up at him.

Zenoah, too, stepped forward at once and knelt in front of Valerian. “Thank you for helping me save my son and daughter, Mister Valerian. I shall heed whatever orders you may have of me in the future, even if it means having to cross a mountain of swords and a sea of fire!!

Valerian smiled slightly and said, “That foreign force has been rearing its head, and it’s only right for me to save your children, especially since I have been entrusted to do so by someone! “After finishing his words, he could not help but glance at the crowd. “I wonder if Mister Severin is with us today?”

Zachariah was startled and thought to himself, ‘So Valerian does know Severin. It shouldn’t be a surprise then that he’s already asking for Severin.’ He immediately looked at Valerian and said, “He’s over there, with the two beautiful women beside him!”

Valerian had never met Severin before, but he knew that Severin was Warren’s master. As a result, he was extremely curious about Severin and even admired the young man somewhat. After all, he admired Warren greatly, so it stood to reason that Warren’s master would be unimaginably powerful.

He looked at Severin from a distance and nodded involuntarily. “I see. He’s quite a handsome man!”

Zachariah’s heart suddenly skipped a beat and he was a little puzzled. Since Severin only needed to make a phone call to get Valerian to rescue Zenoah’s children, then logically speaking, they both ought to have a good relationship with each other. If that was the case, then Valerian should be able to recognize Severin in the crowd at a glance. That begged the question of why Valerian would have to ask him if Severin was around.

At that moment, Severin frowned slightly as he looked over.

“That darn fellow came along too!” Severin eventually had a wry smile as his gaze fell on a bodyguard wearing big black sunglasses behind Valerian. That person was none other than Warren!

Chapter 447

“Mister Valerian, here’s an invitation card from our family. I hope you’ll join us for a meal at our home and allow us to be your host for a few days!” Zachariah bowed immediately and handed over his invitation card. He felt a little nervous at that moment because he was the leader of Brookbourn Mansion, the biggest force among many big forces there. By convention, Valerian ought to accept his invitation, and staying with them for a day or sharing a meal with them was a form of recognition, and it would bring much pride to Brookbourn Mansion. It would therefore be very embarrassing if Valerian did not accept his invitation card but instead accepted the invitation cards from other families.

Fortunately, Valerian stretched out his hand to take the invitation card after being stunned momentarily. “I’ll have to trouble you to play host then. I will probably be staying in Brookbourn for a few days!”

“It is our pleasure, Mister Valerian! And thank you!” Zachariah was so ecstatic that he almost forgot what to say. Even his voice was trembling slightly. Sheila, who was standing beside him, was extremely happy too.

“Why are you still kneeling? Please do get up!” Valerian chuckled before continuing to follow Zachariah forward. As they were walking over, everyone began stretching out their hands to offer their invitation cards even though they were stopped by the bodyguards.

Valerian smiled faintly. He had no issues accepting all those invitations, but whether or not he would visit their houses for dinner was another matter. After thinking for a moment, he asked Zachariah softly, “Which ones are first-tier upper-class families? I’ll take some of their cards. just to keep up appearances!”

Zachariah nodded and immediately pointed them out to him.

Valerian walked over and accepted the invitations from three first-tier families: the Longhorns, the Zelankos, and the Kubricks. He then accepted three more invitations from three other families. Those who had their invitations taken by Valerian were all very excited since there was hope for Valerian to visit them if their invitations had been accepted. Being host to Valerian was a very big deal and an even greater honor.

As Valerian walked, he eventually came up to Severin and his group. Several other people aside. from Diane and Megan were trying to hand him their invitation card too, but Valerian smiled. curtly and took the invitation card from Diane before getting into the car with Zachariah.

“We’ll be hosting Mister Valerian at our place today, so those of you who are free later at noon. are invited to come join us for a celebratory meal!” The Ballards’ butler smiled and said to everyone.

After all, Valerian visited the Ballards first, which showed that he valued them above many other families. It was a heartening development, because more businessmen will seek to cooperate with the Ballards in the future, and it would then bring a huge positive impact on the Ballards’ future development. As a result, the Ballards were all beaming with joy.

“Congratulations, congratulations!” Many of them gestured to express their gratitude, and those who were unable to hand out their invitations could not help but sigh and rue their luck.

“I...am I dreaming, Severin? Did Mister Valerian accept my invitation card too?!” Diane was stunned for a moment as she looked at Severin in disbelief.

Chapter 448

“Yes, Diane. He did. It’s really happening! He has accepted a lot of invitations, and we stand a chance of hosting him if he decides to visit several families!” Megan remarked excitedly from one side before Severin could reply.

“That’s...that’s amazing! I didn’t expect him to accept our invitation! Simply having our invitation accepted is a good thing in itself!” Diane jumped up excitedly, for it was the first time she came into contact with a big shot like Valerian. After all, there were more than at hundred cities in the south county alone, and Brookbourn was merely one of the smaller ones. A hero like Valerian commanded the courtesies of not just the entire Brookbourn, but perhaps even the south county’s highest authority.

Severin merely smiled at the development, because in view, everything happened well within his expectations. Warren came to see him in secret, and knowing that he was Warren’s master, Valerian probably used sending Keagan and Linette over as an excuse to come and see him too. Had Severin not been around, Valerian would not have come at all, and his apprentice Warren might not have followed sneakily either.

“Damn it! Mister Valerian accepted the Shanahans’ invitation but didn’t accept ours!” Jada stomped her feet angrily after watching Valerian leave with the Ballards.

Quintus then remarked, “Do you think maybe Mister Valerian accepted Diane’s invitation because he thinks that she’s pretty? He accepted Robin and Charmaine’s invitation too. Guess he can’t help himself from wanting to dote on beautiful women when he sees one!”

His off-handed remark made Jada’s face turn gloomy. “Are you trying to say that I’m not pretty anymore? Didn’t you just say that I am prettier than them?”

“You are! You’re prettier than them!” Quintus finally realized that he had misspoken. Jada was good-looking, but she was somewhat inferior compared to the other women and lacked a bit of charm in her temperament. Her beauty notwithstanding, she was lacking somewhat in her bosom and had a foul temper too. Had he not fallen in love with her in the past, and had it not been for the good relationship between his family and hers, he would have long dumped her for someone else.

“But you just said that Mister Valerian accepted their invitations because they were pretty. Since you said I’m pretty too, then why didn’t he take my invitation?” Jada asked angrily.

Quintus hooked his arms around her waist and coaxed her immediately. “Take it easy, baby. girl. Maybe Mister Valerian didn’t notice you because you were a little far back earlier. I’m sure he would’ve accepted your invitation if he saw you. You’re a girl, so you shouldn’t blame yourself for not being able to squeeze through the crowd to the front row earlier!”

“Hmph. That’s more like it!” Jada snorted coldly, and then asked again, “Shall we go to the Ballards to congratulate them later? Judging from how things went, I believe a lot of wealthy businessmen and upper-class families will go there and have a meal with them later. They might even give some congratulatory gifts!”

Quintus immediately said, “Of course, we’re going! If your run-of-the-mill wealthy businessmen are in attendance, it would be disrespectful toward Mister Zachariah if your family doesn’t go! They’ll be unhappy if you’re not in attendance!”

Jada was still upset when she thought of how Valerian had taken the invitation card from the Fine then. Let’s go back and get my dad up to speed about the situation. We’ll prepare some gifts and then rush there to have lunch with them!”

“Sounds like a plan.” Quintus nodded. When he left, he glanced at the other end from a distance and gulped when he saw Diane’s beautiful face and enthralling figure. ‘I’ll get you sooner or later! Just wait!’ he thought to himself.

Chapter 449

“Let’s go, we should head back soonest and tell Grandma about the good news. She’ll be super happy if she finds out!” Megan was a little excited and immediately said to Severin and Diane.

Severin nodded and then drove the car back to the Shanahans.

At that moment, inside a room, Mick-the hall master of Mus Hall-could not hold back. anymore and called Candy.

When the girl saw that her father was calling her, she immediately frowned, looked at Lauren, and asked, “What do we do now? Weren’t we instructed to tell him that I’ve been kidnapped? How am I supposed to answer the phone if I was kidnapped?”

Lauren smiled bitterly. “Just do as you were told and don’t answer the phone. I’ll call him later. You can go shopping later in the afternoon, and then wait for the supreme leader at the entrance of the city at night. When the time comes, I’ll bring our hall master to look for you!”

Candy was overjoyed when she heard that she could go shopping. “I can go shopping? Hehe, sweet! I’m going now, then! There are loads of architectural wonders here in Brookbourn, so I’m going to take the chance to sightseeing too!” She left directly.

After a while, Lauren called Mick once the phone hung up.

“What’s the situation there, Lauren? Why isn’t Candy answering my call? Didn’t she bring her cell phone with her?” Mick asked worriedly after answering Lauren’s call.

“Sir, thing

Lauren smiled slightly and then said, “Sir, things have gone south. Severin is too powerful. He’s even stronger than I am. Candy and I are no match for him at all! I was seriously injured yesterday, but he let me go instead of killing me. Then, he took Candy away with him!”

“What?!”

When Mick heard that, he gritted his teeth angrily and said, “Why did he take my daughter instead of killing you?” A pause soon ensued, and he connected the dots as he took a deep breath. “It’s over...my daughter is a young and beautiful woman! That son-of-a-b*tch must be some pervert! My dear Candy’s innocence will probably be taken away now that he’s kidnapped her!!

Lauren did not know how to react to that, though she had to admit that Mick’s imagination was so wild that he even thought about that sort of plot. To prevent Mick from worrying too much, Lauren immediately assured, “Don’t worry, sir. Candy is fine. Severin wants you to wait for him tonight in the woods outside the city. He wants to see if you have what it takes to rescue Candy. If you don’t, he’ll kill you!”

Chapter 450

Mick clenched his fists with increased rage when he heard that. “That b*stard has some balls to kidnap my daughter and threaten me like this. So be it, then! I’ll bring some men over, and I will make sure to kill him when the time comes!” Mick was still a little worried even after saying that. “My daughter is such a beautiful young woman, but since that guy made it clear that he wants me to save my daughter, then it means my daughter isn’t safe. We can’t be sure. that he won’t touch my daughter either!”

Lauren was speechless for a moment, wondering what sort of expression their supreme leader would have if he knew what Mick said about him, especially since Mick had categorically assumed him to be a pervert!

Though it was Lauren’s first time meeting the supreme leader the previous night, she could be certain that he was a righteous person at first glance and was definitely not the sort of Mick imagined him to be.

pervert

“By the way, Lauren, what’s his attainment level? You’re a level three profound master, but you’re still no match for him. I’m worried that his attainment fundamentals are much higher. than yours!”

After Mick thought about it, he asked Lauren again.

Lauren then said, “Well, judging from our battle yesterday, his attainment level is probably not much higher than mine. I’m guessing he’s about a level four or level five profound master. He had every chance to kill me, but he didn’t, and he even let me go on purpose. He wanted me to tell you that you can bring as many people as you want because that’ll save him the trouble. of having to deal with our men pestering him all the time. He said he wants to deal with all of us at once!”

Mick frowned after hearing what Lauren said, "That guy sure is brave. He's got guts, and it's such a shame that the Blood-Drinker Gang forced us to kill him. We could've been friends, you know, and if he didn't lay a hand on my daughter, I might even be able to let him off the hook with the excuse that he ran off because he's too strong. We have nothing to lose if we spare the Blood-Drinker Gang's enemy!"

Lauren then immediately said, "That makes a lot of sense, but please make sure you're not saying such things in the company of other people. It'll be troublesome if the Blood-Drinker Gang hears what you said!"

Mick's heart skipped a beat. "Don't worry, I'm in my room right now, and there's no one else here with me. Since the other party's attainment is similar to that of a level four or level five profound master, then he probably won't be able to escape if I bring some of the elders with me. I'll be sure to kill him if he laid a hand on Candy and made her suffer, though I would consider letting him go if he didn't do anything to her."

As soon as Lauren heard that, she immediately reminded, "Sir, I suggest you bring more people over. We need to make as big a fuss over it as possible. Tell the Blood-Drinker Gang that his attainment is incredibly high, which is why you need to bring more powerful people over here!"

"Why should I? I am a dignified level seven profound master! Why should I be afraid of that kid, especially when we have the great elder with us too!" Mick remarked in confusion after hearing Lauren's statement.

Lauren immediately said, "You need to make a big fuss out of it and say that Severin's attainment is higher than it is. That's the only way you can convince the Blood-Drinker Gang that you're going out on a limb for them. It's the best show of sincerity right now. Besides, if some of their people are killed, you can go to them and ask for some benefits too!"

Mick's eyes lit up instantly. "You have a point. Let's do it that way then. I'll bring a few people to the Blood-Drinker Gang, and ask to bring some of their elite fighters to Brookbourn so we can show our loyalty to them!" Mick then hung up and went to work immediately. Though he knew that his daughter's life was not in immediate danger, he was still a little afraid that Severin might covet his daughter's youth and beauty.