

Arabella 34

Chapter 34

Following behind him, a couple of his underlings were clutching onto a bunch of pricey gifts, which they put down before heading out to wait by the door. Left alone now, Carl stood by Romeo, acting all respectful and stuff.

“Hello, long time no see.”

Romeo had a cold personality and didn’t talk much. Even his greeting was steady and rigorous.

“Romeo, what brings you here today?” Louisa was the first to react, looking at the gifts he brought, she put on a warm smile. “It’s great you came. Thank you for your gifts.”

“Romeo, come take a seat. Someone, get him a cup of coffee.” Kenneth called out in a friendly tone, “You haven’t visited us since your bro left the country. Let’s catch up tonight.”

“Romeo, have you eaten yet?”

“I have.” Romeo replied, still as polite as ever.

Louisa looked at him, finding Romeo very likable. Tall, handsome, competent, he was basically up to her room. That way, she could strengthen family ties and indirectly find out if she overheard two them, she found out Romeo had come to her she was so frightened that she almost couldn’t stand still. “Miss Serena?” Martha went have come because of what happened today! If my parents find out, about how I almost got his grandpa killed... What should freak out, let’s see clean.” Serena quickly weighed her options and blurted out, “I’m going her back, “Keep your cool, let’s see what’s glance. Miss Collins... could they be well-informed, could he already know that the Collins’ real daughter was someone else?

was just like he had something to say. Louisa spoke first, “Romeo, this whole thing happened out of the blue, we didn’t get a chance to previous engagement, he hospital fire, then said, “We only recently found Arabella, and haven’t yet announced her identity to the public. Arabella’s grandparents still don’t know about this, we Romeo was shocked.