

The Untouchable Ex-Wife

Chapter 1552

A long sigh escaped Xavier as he read the words Leia typed out. “It’s okay if you want Shirley to apologize to you, but that might just cause more cyberbullying. I think you should just hold the troublemakers responsible for it instead of the idols.”

“Of course you wouldn’t want to involve the idols-you’re one of them. Plus, your first love is involved, so you don’t want to humiliate or trouble her!” Leia had never seen Xavier so concerned about anyone other than Shirley. She would never forgive such a disloyal man.

“If you had even a little bit of sense, you would know who I’m actually worried about.” Xavier felt like he could never win with Leia. Finally, he gave up on trying to prove his innocence and said coldly, “I’ll never let you involve the idols in this.” As the president of Universal Entertainment, he was the capitalist of the entertainment circle, so he knew full well how things worked in that circle. Sometimes, a trend or rumor would push people to a desperate end. There were quite a lot of stars who had been ruined by cyberbullying, and people like Leia and Renee who weren’t even celebrities wouldn’t be able to endure that kind of thing.

“How dare you threaten me! I’ll do what I want, and there’s nothing you can do about it!” Anger engulfed Leia as she typed on her phone furiously. Although she couldn’t speak, it was obvious she was mad.

Stefan felt as if he was in the middle of a battlefield. For the first time, he felt that it was troublesome to be in love. Leia and Xavier were in love with each other, but everything they said to each other was hurtful, and all it did was ruin their relationship. When Stefan thought about it, he felt that his relationship with Renee was pretty good... He was very lucky. At the thought of Renee, Stefan smiled broadly.

Maybe he could enjoy a bath with his dear wife if he went upstairs now. After all, he couldn’t help these two anyway. He quickly turned to leave.

“Stefan, you’re a sensible person. What do you think we should do about this?” Xavier stopped Stefan to ask for his judgement.

Stefan groaned, “Go ahead if you want to fight, but don’t drag me into your mess. I have a good relationship with my wife, and I’ve never had such trouble.”

His words annoyed both Xavier and Leia.

“How can you say that? You can boast about your love life with Renee, but don’t condemn us. Lei and I are lovey-dovey too,” Xavier protested.

Leia took Xavier’s side, typing some words out. “How could you say that about us? Both you and Ren are worse than us. Didn’t you have a lot of fights and create a lot of messes?”

“Yeah, your fights are more than I can count. Stefan, you were pretty troublesome. Renee and you were married, but you ignored her. If you were a nice guy right from the start, there wouldn’t have been so many issues.” Xavier’s sharp words made Stefan speechless, and he hung his head in defeat.
