

Chapter 985 A Malicious Woman

Sigrid wasn't willing to let it go. After she got in the elevator, she moved closer to Zakai.

Keeping her anger in check, she pressed her chest against Zakai's body and said in a soft purr, "Mr. Sanderson, why did you let Dragon go? He will ruin the good name of the company."

Zakai frowned irritably as he absentmindedly caressed Sigrid's butt.

His eyes held no cheer.

To Zakai, although Sigrid was beautiful, she held no challenge whatsoever as she was very willing to sleep with him. She was only a plaything, used to quench his lust and keep him entertained when he was bored.

Zakai sighed and said, "I don't like Dragon either. But firing him now would be detrimental to my plans. I still need him. He promised he'd help me get a girl I've been chasing for a while now, but he hasn't told me how."

"Chase a girl?"

Sigrid was shocked and irritated. She had thought sleeping with Zakai was enough to make her the hostess of the Sanderson family. She didn't expect he was still thinking about another woman.

However, she was not worried.

Sigrid believed she had a great chance at winning Zakai's heart. In the end, he would grow infatuated with her and marry her.

In a charming voice, she said, "Mr. Sanderson, it's easy to pick up girls. I can help you. You know, women know women best. I can help you get any woman."

Zakai's eyes lit up.

However, he didn't make up his mind to fire Trevor immediately. He wasn't sure how reliable Sigrid was.

He thought for a while and said, "Okay. I'll fire Dragon as long as you help me get Sally. You can deal with him as you like. I think I pay him too much anyways."

Sigrid was excited and said hurriedly, "Leave it to me, Mr. Sanderson. I know a group of professionals in Esterham. No matter what kind of woman Sally is, I promise she'll become obedient after they are done with her. I will personally ensure Sally becomes your woman."

Zakai's excitement was visible. He caressed Sigrid's body and said, "Okay. But how can we lure Sally out?"

Sigrid smiled and said, "As I said, women know women best. Leave that to me."

They flirted with each other shamelessly in the elevator as they plotted.

Zakai couldn't wait for Sigrid to carry out the plot, so the latter contacted the so-called professionals.

Standing at the company's entrance, Sigrid couldn't help feeling good about herself as she waited for Zakai to drive over.

She could do whatever she wanted to Dragon as long as she made Zakai happy.

She pranced towards the area where the bodyguards stayed in a proud manner.

"Hey! Where is Dragon?" Sigrid asked, as she looked around with a frown.

Martin ran over, almost groveling, and answered, "Dragon just went out to take care of company business. What do you need? Do you need me to pass along a message to him?"

"Take care of company business? I think he is slacking off," Sigrid said in a low voice.

She had planned to brag to Trevor and make fun of him since he was about to be fired.

She was disappointed by Trevor's absence.

"Humph! Let him enjoy the little time he has here. Because when I'm done with my plans, he'll be fired," Sigrid said with a sneer.

She looked at Martin and was satisfied with his attitude toward her.

This was how Trevor should have behaved!

Sigrid nodded and said, "You are doing a good job. I'll tell Mr. Sanderson to make you the head of the bodyguards once Dragon is out of the picture."

Martin couldn't help smiling upon hearing this.

His excitement stemmed from the fact that he could again become the head of the bodyguards.

The smiles on both their faces were somewhat gloating, as though they had already witnessed Trevor being kicked out.
