

Never Say 333

“Very well, I see. I shall be punctual.”

Upon ending the call, Hannah paused, pondering the reason behind Bryson’s grandfather’s interest in her. Could it be related to Grace’s recent recovery?

Hannah shook her head and proceeded to dial her friend’s number.

“Lydia, what attire would be suitable for a meeting with the elders?”

“hat?! You’re already meeting the grandparents-in-law?!”

Hannah didn’t know what to say to that.

“What are you talking about? Enough with the nonsense and let’s get down to business!”

On the other side, Lydia was in the middle of putting her clothes on.

“What? Meeting your future in-laws is an important business, too.

Hasn’t Bryson already declared his affections for you?”

“ALL right, that’s it. Bye.”

Hannah rolled her eyes and decided to just hang up the phone.

“No, no, don’t hang up!” Lydia cried out in a rush.

“Fine, I won’t tease you anymore. Let’s drop by Givenchy later and see if they have any recent custom-made dresses that suit you.”

“Great. I’ll see you at the store in twenty minutes.”

“Okay.”

Hannah ended the call, then put on some light makeup before driving out.

She spotted Lydia as soon as she arrived at the Givenchy store, already sipping coffee in the lounge.

“Oh, you’re not late this time.”

Lydia scoffed and nudged Hannah’s shoulder.

“This is a huge deal for you. How can I be late?”

Hannah pressed her Lips into a tight Line and lightly pinched Lydia’s ear.

“I dare you to say that again!”

“ALL right, all right, I take it back! What kind of clothes are you thinking to buy, anyway? It will be my treat today!”
