

Chapter 927 You Can Have A Try

Julie was taken aback by Baxter's arrogance. She furrowed her brow and spoke with a deep voice.

"What the heck are you doing? Is it okay for you to bring someone to block the factory gate?"

Baxter sneered upon hearing this and retorted, "Back then, my father and I had shares in Pearl! Julie, if you kick us out for no reason, shouldn't you compensate us?"

Julie hadn't anticipated Baxter's shamelessness. She was furious.

Baxter and his crew blocking the factory gate would deal a significant blow to Pearl.

Realizing this, Julie had no choice but to consider a compromise. Just as she was about to agree to his request, Baxter opened his mouth again.

"Don't be in such a hurry to say yes. We need to settle the accounts! Pearl had nothing at the start. Pearl's achievements now are all thanks to the resources my father and I brought in! So, we deserve a bigger cut. Julie, compensate my father and me with a total of two hundred million dollars!"

Hearing this, Julie was furious and exclaimed, "Bullshit! You two only invested a total of twenty million dollars. Now you want ten times that as compensation? No way! I can't promise you that much money! Stop daydreaming!"

Baxter sneered confidently.

"If you refuse to pay, your production won't kick off! I'm in no hurry. If I delay the work, you're the only one who'll suffer!"

Having said that, Baxter suddenly swung his arms, prompting Kendrick and his men to move forward immediately.

Each of them brandished steel baseball bats, giving off the vibe that they were ready to demolish the factory.

Without instructing anyone to act, Baxter issued a veiled threat. "Take your time to think. If you're smart and willing to pay, you can save your precious factory."

Julie's anger flared up witnessing Baxter's shameless demeanor.

She thought he had crossed a line. There was no way she could agree to his demands!

The worst-case scenario would be rebuilding the entire factory.

However, just as Julie was about to thwart Baxter's

Chapter 927 You Can Have A Try  +120 Points at most scheme, Watkins unexpectedly pulled her aside.

Julie furrowed her brow, curious about his intentions.

In a hushed tone audible only to them, Watkins explained, "Julie, these folks are connected to the gangs. It's tricky to mess with them. They've got backing from the Kingland Group! Even the Red Murray Group in Salem can't match up to them. In my view, we could haggle the price, giving them less money to get them out of here. Once the factory's running smoothly, the company will make profits and recover from the losses sooner or later!"

Hearing this, Julie grew solemn.

She hadn't anticipated that this group of people had such powerful connections.

But her company didn't boast that much money.

Plus, she couldn't stomach shelling out a hefty sum to those two bastards, Baxter and Newell.

Julie felt on edge, desperately wishing for Liam to show up. After all, Liam was the go-to guy for handling situations like this.

Meanwhile, Kendrick was getting antsy. He flicked his cigarette to the ground and shouted aggressively, "Have you made a decision? Last chance. Fork over the cash, or I'll have my pals wreck your factory!"

Facing Kendrick's fierceness, Julie's complexion paled.

Chapter 927 You Can Have A Try

 +120 Points at most

She felt a twinge of fear and was at a loss.

Then, out of the blue, a cold voice echoed from behind.

"You can have a try!"

When everyone spun around, both Julie and Watkins were surprised.

It was Liam!