

Chapter 1006 Dooley's Scheme

"Bastard! You must be tired of living!" Zakai was so enraged that his eyes became bloodshot, and he was practically spewing saliva as he screamed. "I'll find someone to kill you now! Don't you fucking go! Fuck!"

Dooley felt so damned humiliated.

He wanted to strangle his useless son, Zakai.

"Enough!" Dooley roared as he grabbed Zakai's collar. "Have you not had enough of humiliation? Get the fuck up!"

Ismael was a bodyguard that Dooley hired for a fortune, yet Trevor easily defeated him. If Zakai were to provoke Trevor, he'd only end up getting beaten to a pulp.

After scolding Zakai, Dooley glared at Trevor.

He then took a deep breath, and said through gritted teeth, "Since you came here bearing a gift, please come in."

"Is that so?" Trevor smirked before walking into Hantinn Restaurant, showing no sign of fear. He then turned around and added, "I hope you'll be enjoying your birthday party today."

Thereafter, he strode into the restaurant, and he soon disappeared at the corner.

Zakai could do nothing but watch as Trevor walked away.

Visibly resentful, he asked, "Why did you let him in? That bastard has some ulterior motive. He's definitely not here to apologize to us!"

"Shut the hell up! I don't want to hear anything out of you," Dooley growled, clenching his fists.

If Zakai weren't his son, he would've beat him up himself.

Once more, Dooley took a deep breath to cast aside the disgusting scene in his mind. "Dragon dares to come and cause trouble at my birthday party. Do you honestly think I'm going to let him go? That's fucking stupid. This is my fucking party. I will not let him leave just like that!"

Zakai still couldn't figure out what his father wanted to do with Trevor.

Just looking at the confused look on his son's face infuriated Dooley.

"Dragon has got some balls to come here in person. I'm going to make him regret this. Who do you think those businessmen will support? If I chastise Dragon in front of them, it will ruin his reputation. Pretty soon, he won't be able to remain in Esterham!"

Dooley just assumed that he was very powerful and influential within Esterham and that the attendees of the banquet would take his side.

Aside from that, getting rid of a mere bodyguard would be a piece of cake for the wealthy.

Dooley believed that nobody would dare to go against him during his birthday party.

For others, it must be rare to get the chance to curry the Sanderson family's favor. Needless to say, they would certainly cooperate with him.

Zakai's eyes lit up. "Sounds like a great plan. Soon, Dragon will have nowhere left to go, and he'll be forced to leave Esterham!"

Dooley scoffed as he turned to the direction Trevor went to with a sinister gaze.

He gestured for his son to come closer.

"Zakai, I need you to contact those people. Dragon has got some nerve goading us like this. Driving him out of Esterham is not enough. I want him erased from the face of the earth. Otherwise, the Sanderson family will be humiliated."

Dooley ran his thumb along his neck as a signal that he wanted Dragon dead.

"Make sure to succeed this time. Understand?"

Zakai swallowed, scared of his father's sinister expression.

But then, he became excited about the fate that awaited Trevor. "I understand, Dad. Once those people attack Dragon, he'll be sure to die a painful death!"
