

Chapter 1015 Try His Medical Expertise

Arlo admired Sally very much.

Actually, not only him. Almost all the young male doctors in Esterham were attracted to Sally.

Sally was not only beautiful, but she also possessed extraordinary medical expertise at such a young age.

Whoever married Sally could have the chance to learn the magical medical skills passed down from the ancestors of the Scott family.

Therefore, Arlo showed hostility when he saw Trevor beside her.

Although he didn't mock Trevor directly, he accused Trevor of pretending to be knowledgeable, implying that Trevor should get out of there.

Trevor couldn't help frowning. He was about to say something.

But before he could open his mouth, Sally, who was angrier than him, said through clenched teeth, "Dragon is now learning medical skills from my mother and me. If you doubt his ability, then you are looking down on the Scott family's medical expertise."

After saying this, Sally was even more furious.

Since she had seen Trevor's courage and power, she started to look down on the young men who liked flirting with women.

"Since I'm his teacher, do you two have any problem with me?" Sally stood in front of Trevor and looked at Arlo angrily.

The expression on Arlo's face changed. He quickly smiled apologetically, rubbed his hands, and said, "I'm sorry for the misunderstanding. I didn't know you were Dr. Scott's student. Well, Dr. Scott, since you are here, why don't you show us your skills? I've heard that the medical skills of the Scott family are very effective."

When Sally noticed that Arlo was finding an opportunity to accost her again, she became impatient. She made an excuse. "I can't do that this time because I'm only here to be my student's assistant."

Arlo was stunned for a moment. He was at a loss.

But Sally didn't care about his reaction at all. She just ignored him and followed Trevor to the tattoo artist.

Feeling that he was ignored, Arlo was secretly annoyed.

But, of course, he didn't dare to be angry at Sally. So he put the blame on Trevor.

He thought that if Trevor wasn't here, Sally wouldn't treat him indifferently. In his eyes, this was all Trevor's fault.

Arlo snorted coldly, turned to his assistant, and said, "Let's follow them and have a look. I'd like to see what kind of treatment this Dragon can offer."

Trevor carefully looked through the tattoo artist's physical examination result. He didn't find too much abnormalities in the man's physical condition, and it was not enough to make the man become silly.

After thinking for a while, he said to Sally, "I think the patient lost consciousness because his blood pressure suddenly rose due to too much fear or extreme anger. People who don't know medicine would say that he lost his soul."

Sally nodded and asked patiently, "So, how are you going to treat the patient?"

Trevor didn't answer her immediately. Instead, he took out a piece of red cloth from his pocket and slowly spread it out, revealing the neatly arranged silver needles.

Then he said, "I will use acupuncture to stimulate his acupoints and adjust his vitality."

As soon as Trevor said this, there was a snicker behind him. When he looked back, he saw Arlo and his assistant covering their mouths and snickering.

They pretended to discuss in a low voice but deliberately kept their volume within the range that Trevor could hear.

Arlo sneered, "This man is so arrogant. How dare he say he can cure the patient with these silver needles?"

His assistant said sarcastically, "I think he's the one who needs treatment."

If it was Sally or Madison who took out the silver needles to treat the patient, they would not dare to taunt or even question such a procedure.

But Trevor was unknown in the medical field. So they simply didn't believe that someone like him could cure a patient with a complicated disease.

Arlo's assistant deliberately mocked in a low voice, "Humph! He dares to show off his medical expertise in front of you! He is so shameless."
