

Chapter 1034 A Big Surprise

"Don't worry. Nothing will happen as long as he doesn't come and bother me. But if he dares to cause trouble again, I don't mind giving him a surprise he won't forget."

Hearing Bess' concern about Wilbert causing trouble again, Trevor smiled calmly and reassured her.

After seeing Bess out of the apartment, Trevor called Antoni.

Trevor remembered Ulises had said negative rumors about the apartment started to come up when it was put on sale.

If the source of those rumors pointed to Wilbert, it would confirm that he was the one who had set up the secret camera to make false rumors and spread them out.

"Levi, I was about to call you! You wouldn't believe what I found!" Anton's excited voice came from the other end of the line as soon as the call connected.

"Have you investigated the camera?" Trevor asked.

"Unfortunately, I haven't. There's no clear information about the purchasing process and the buyer, so it's almost impossible to track. So I changed my strategy. I searched online for information about your apartment and found many rumors about it!"

Trevor was surprised. He didn't expect Antoni to be so good at investigating that he had scoured the Internet to gather information before he did.

"What have you found?"

Antoni replied excitedly, "I've found a lot! I used a web crawling program to run searches on the Internet. Then I sorted all the information I gathered according to posting time and locked a particular forum post. After that, I ran an application to get the IP address of the poster. Easy peasy!"

Trevor held his phone in one hand and rubbed his forehead with the other. His head ached at the hacking terms and methods Antoni mentioned that he didn't understand. "Who was the person behind the post? And where is he now?"

"Surprising, the IP address belongs to our school. I hacked the school's database and found the information of that person after thorough data analysis. His name is Wilbert Larson."

So it was indeed Wilbert.

Trevor sneered.

Seeing how agitated Wilbert looked earlier, Trevor was certain Wilbert would find a way to retrieve the camera and memory card in the apartment as soon as possible.

Trevor would prepare a big surprise to welcome him.

He suddenly thought of an idea and snickered.

"Can you edit the video, Antoni?"

"Yes, but I'm not that good."

"That's fine. You can give me a hand at editing the video. I'll go to Nicolas' house and bring a blank memory card with me. I want you to save the edited video in it after."

"Sure, but what kind of editing do you have in mind?"

Trevor's sneer widened. "An exciting one. I'll tell you the details later."

That afternoon, Trevor went to Nicolas' house and met with Antoni.

He told Antoni his idea for the video, which flustered the latter.

Could they really scheme people like this?

However, thinking that the person behind the pinhole camera deserved to be taught a lesson, Antoni proceeded to edit without guilt.

The moment Wilbert came to get the camera back, he would fall right into the trap.

After returning to the apartment, Trevor installed the new memory card into the pinhole camera under the computer table and made sure it looked untouched.

Wilbert was more anxious than Trevor imagined.

The next day, a short sneaky figure appeared at the door of Trevor's apartment.

Wilbert looked around but didn't see anyone. He hurriedly took out a clone of the original key and inserted it into the door knob.

He bribed Ulises to hand him the key so he could duplicate one and use it now.

A soft clicking sound followed, indicating the door was unlocked. When he pushed the door and it opened successfully, Wilbert beamed.

He slipped inside and closed the door behind him carefully.

However, before he could sigh in relief, a stern voice emerged from behind him.

"Hands over your head and don't move!"

Win a chance to read for free!

>>>

GO NOW