

You Are Mine, Omega

Chapter 21

Chapter 21

Allison came out of the room. She was mad. Mad at herself.

'Why did I even go to this room?'

She headed to the stairs furiously. She paused and touched her heart. She started to feel pain.

"What is going on with me?"

Her eyes welled up with tears. She had no idea why she was feeling this way. Did her wolf return to her?

She dashed downstairs and headed to the front door.

Boys were staring at her, and some of them winked and grinned. She became even more enraged.

Why did she start changing her clothes? For whom? Was moving on related to dance, fashion style, and personality?

Those flirtatious young men reminded her of Ryan. What he said really captivated her attention.

"Argh! Tease my foot!" She mumbled and went out of the school.

"ALLISON!"

She came to a standstill and turned around.

"I was trying to reach you. Why didn't you listen to me? What were you doing? Where are you going?" Teresa arrived puffing. When she saw Allison leave, she called her and ran after her. Allison gave her a frown. "You. Keep your distance from Max. He has to be his best friend. How can he be a good man when his companion is incorrect?"

Teresa was perplexed. "What's wrong?"

"There is nothing wrong. That Max dude. You already knew he was friends with that scumbag. Teresa, how could you be friends with him?"

"Allison, relax. Listen to me."

"No, Teresa."

Allison cupped her cheeks. "I don't want you to become a part of their games. You know how that boy is. What if his best friend is also the same? I don't want you to be heart broken."

Teresa hugged her and patted her back.

"Calm down, honey. You know. I am not that interested in relationships. So chill, okay? No one can break my heart."

Allison sighed and nodded her head. They broke the hug.

"What happened to you? Why are you so infuriated? You look like a Buffalo in anger."

Allison chuckled when she heard that. Her best friend really knew how to make her smile.

"Teresa"

She moved close to Teresa and whispered.

"My wolf just reacted to me."

Teresa looked at her with wide eyes. "When?"

"A few minutes ago. I am going to Doctor Linus."

"I am also going with you, let's go."

"What? No. You have classes. Professor Watson gave you an assignment. You prepared it the whole night to submit. You can't go with me."

"But what about you?"

"Don't worry. Isn't it a good thing? Everything will be OK. "I'll let you know what Doctor Linus says."

"All right, just call me after meeting him."

"All right, got it."

Allison hailed a cab to the pack hospital, hoping for good news regarding her wolf.

'Are you listening to me?' she inquired of her wolf. However, she received no reaction.

She sat uneasily in the back seat, trying to tie her hair. But then she touched her neck. She could still feel the peck. She immediately moved her hand and bit her lips violently.

'How could he? My father would beat him up if I tell him about his actions. He thinks I'm one of those chicks who goes around kissing and doing disgusting things to boys.'

The car began to slow down. "Madam, we are here." Allison got out of the car and paid the driver.

She walked into the hospital but did not go to reception.

She did not have time for an appointment. Linus had previously advised her that she did not need to make an appointment to visit him. She would absolutely take an appointment and wait if the problem was not so urgent. But it has to do with her wolf.

She went to the head doctor's chamber.

The nurses who were passing, saw her and were about to stop but the receptionist told them that Doctor Linus knew her. That day when she came to meet him, Doctor Linus ordered her to let her enter without an appointment. He also told that Allison was the pack's beta's daughter.

Allison stopped in front of the chamber. She opened the door.

"Linus, I need to talk abo-"

She paused when she saw who was sitting there in front of Doctor Linus.

Allison took a step back as the chair whirled around. She had not looked into his eyes in a long time. She tried to move on from him in the last few days. She made every effort to ignore him. She attempted to start a fresh, carefree life.

But after seeing this boy, she remembered everything all over again. Everything came flooding back to her mind. His attractive features reminded her of his cruel activities.

Ethan was sitting there, puzzledly looking at her. Allison forced her gaze away from him and toward Doctor Linus.

"I-I am sorry that I disturbed you. I can wait outside." Allison said and turned around.

"Allison."

She heard her name from his mouth. Her steps came to a halt. She clenched her teeth and closed her eyes.

Why was she unable to forget him? Why?

Why, after everything he had done to her, why did she still stop by his voice?

"What happened to your health? What brought you here?"

Allison wanted to smack him. He asked this question after attempting to kill her and her wolf?

'Did he realize what he had done to me? Was he thinking that because I did not tell him about my anguish, everything was well with me?'

She grinned as she gently turned to face him.

"You don't have to know anything about me, Alpha Ethan. My health? It is none of your concern."

Allison mocked him and left the chamber. All the time Linus was silently watching both of them.

Allison came out of the room and started to walk back and forth.

"You have to control yourself. You can't appear weak in front of him after what you have decided." She thought to herself. But was it really so simple to forget your first love? The one you had been in love with for a long time? The one you wanted to spend the rest of your life with? The one who used to be your mate but rejected you because he thought you were not good enough for him? She heard the sound of the door. She stood straight without looking at the door. She could feel that someone was approaching her from behind. When she heard him again, she closed her eyes. "Allison, let's talk."

Chapter 22

"Allison, let's talk."

She attempted to blink her tears away. She made an effort to take deep breaths.

She was able to ignore him the whole time since he was far away and did not approach her. But he was now close to her. How could she put a halt to this heinous heart?

She usually said flatly that she didn't care about him, but was this true?

"I'm sorry, but I don't have anything to talk about with you." She responded without looking at him.

"But I have."

She scowled and turned to face him.

"Do you still have the courage to talk to me after all you have done?"

Ethan was able to glimpse into her eyes. It looked glossy as if she was trying to keep herself from sobbing.

He didn't know why, but he wanted to be lost in those lovely eyes for the first time.

He suddenly felt her more beautiful, as if she was blooming.

"What? You don't have anything to say anymore? Good."

She tried to pass him but grabbed her wrist.

"I need to talk to you."

She snatched her hand. "How dare you touch me!"

"My intention was not bad. I am just trying to talk to you."

"Why? Why do you need to speak to me? Go to your Alpha she-wolf, who can defend herself. Go talk to her. You must be devastated by your breakup, don't you? And why wouldn't you? You had finally found the right, deserving woman for you. However, she discovered your real colors and abandoned you. Isn't it?"

Allison let out a lot of words all at once. She realized she had never spoken to him so much before. Last time it was her birthday night when he rejected her.

How viciously and arrogantly he rejected her!

"She did not abandon me. In fact, I ended things with her."

"Yes, yes. What can anybody expect from a guy like you? Maybe you met someone more deserving so you broke her heart as well."

Ethan shook his head. "Forget about it. Tell me what happened to you? Are you okay?"

Allison stared at him coldly. "You left me to die that night. Do you know that, Alpha Ethan? It's a blessing that I am still alive. You did not think about me at that time, what happened to you suddenly?"

"Just answer what I asked you."

"Why? Who are you? You are no one to me. So from now on, please stay away from me."

"Listen, Alliso-"

She stopped him by lifting her hand.

"You have already destroyed me. I didn't tell anyone about your rejection and continued with my life as usual. So stay away if you have a bit of shame."

She moved from him and approached the front door. She entered by opening the door.

Ethan let out a sigh and lowered his head. He could not refute that what she stated was correct.

He felt embarrassed by what he had done to her. It would be less if she blamed him for her whole life.

From the night of rejection, He could not forget that moment. He made every effort to ignore her.

He attempted to be the bad guy in front of her by standing up for Julie in front of the whole cafe.

He even set up a fake relationship with Julie in order for her to move on from his rejection.

However, he was unknowingly the one who was unable to move on.

He had no idea why.

Did he start regretting his decision?

She had changed completely in only a few weeks.

New appearance, new attitude. He first assumed that she was doing all of this to get his attention.

But he was completely wrong!

She was just doing these for herself. She desired a fresh life apart from him. She acted as if he did not exist for her. She was continually ignoring him.

She avoided him several times in the same class while he was near her seat.

He recalled how she used to make an attempt to get his attention.

Yes, he was aware of her feelings from the start. He was a mature man. He could see how the girls, particularly Allison, were staring at him.

She constantly came to any event just to see him in the pack house. She wanted to join him.

He was aware of her constant efforts to approach him. Just like the day she ran into him and he grabbed her into his arms. He was aware of their mate bond at that moment.

She came to help him initially when he and Ryan had a fight over their family problem. When she caressed his cheeks and asked if he was alright, he could see the worry in her eyes. He was frightened that she would have developed hopes for him. As a result, he shoved her hands.

He understood her feelings for him, therefore he did not provide her with any hope.

Because he was an Alpha. He was not an ordinary Alpha, but he was the head Alpha. He was raised to believe that his life was for his people.

He was not Ryan, who could think first for himself, then for others. He could not possibly be desirous. He had no life of his own.

After his parents' death, the way Alpha Neil and Luna Ella accepted him, they let him call them

'Mom' and 'Dad' so he would not feel like an orphan. He had promised himself from that day that he would give his life for them. He always did what Alpha Neil said. He lived the way he instructed him to live. He transformed himself into a flawless guy so that Alpha Neil would never regret adopting him as his son.

In such a situation, how could he accept an Omega? What about his pack? He was unable to listen to his heart, but only just his brain.

He smiled sadly and mumbled,

"I wish I could be careless like Ryan and live my life as I wanted to live."

He looked at the chamber and thought,

'I wish I had not rejected you and had some courage to accept you, my Omega.'

Chapter 23

"So you mean my wolf is back?"

Allison asked with a bright smile. She could not believe what Doctor Linus had just said.

After entering his chamber, she explained to him everything about her wolf's howling. He told that her wolf was coming out again.

"Yes, you don't need to worry about anything."

Allison nodded but she was confused.

How did it happen?

"How?" She muttered.

"Well, Allison. The potion I gave you was created by one of the powerful witches of our pack. So maybe it helped you."

"Yeah. You are right." She remembered that she drank the potion. So it really worked?

"I am so happy. When can I talk to her again?"

"Relax, Allison. It will still take time. Let her be healthy first. The rejection made her so weak that she could not recover yet. So give her some time. She will be back soon. She is just caged in pain. Her pain will be healed with time."

Allison obeyed him and made herself convinced that her wolf would be back soon.

"I sometimes feel pain in my heart."

"That's when your wolf tries to respond to you. You have to bear her pain since she took care of every pain and let you live happily."

Allison got emotional. Her wolf had to endure all the pain. She was startled when she stopped to react to her.

She did not want to live a wolfless life. However, it was a relief that her wolf would come back to her.

After talking about her, Doctor Linus cleared his throat.

"Do you want to say something?" Allison asked him as he avoided her gaze.

"Well..."

"You can say whatever you want to say."

He looked at her. "Should I tell Ethan about your wolf?"

"NO."

Doctor Linus was silent. Allison calmed herself and then said,

"I don't want him to know anything about me. We are not mates anymore. So it's not needed."

"He is going to be our head Alpha. You know that we are already prepared to serve him as our Alpha. If he asks me, I can't lie to him."

Allison pushed herself up from her chair.

The room was quiet. Her nose was drawn to the smell of chemicals. She shook her head once more.

"You don't need to say anything to him. It is a pack hospital and I believe you always secure pack member's privacy."

"He is our head Alp-"

"I don't care. I don't want to give him pleasure by knowing that I am not doing well. I don't need his sympathy. Thank you."

Allison did not wait for Linus's reply and left his chamber.

When she came out of the room, she saw no one. Did she hope that Ethan would be outside waiting for her?

'Stop thinking about that ruthless man.' She scolded herself.

She went home after leaving the pack hospital. Her mother was making lunch, she did not say much and went straight to her room.

She called Teresa and informed her what Doctor Linus had said.

Teresa was overjoyed to hear her.

"I told you not to worry. See? Everything is okay."

"I just hope so, Teresa."

She wanted to tell Teresa about Ethan but she thought there was nothing to raise his topic again.

When she went downstairs to have lunch, her mother was telling her how busy she would be tonight.

"Luna Ella asked me to go early."

"Why, Mom?"

"What, why, Allison? They are like our family. And it's our future Alpha's birthday. The whole pack is going to celebrate tomorrow. So we should stay with them at this happy moment."

Allison rolled her eyes. She did not want to talk about him again.

When she was done, she went to wash dishes.

"Allison, get ready at 9 pm."

She turned to her mother. "Why, Mom?"

"What's wrong with you today? Why are you asking this type of question? It was you who was excited for Ethan's birthday every year. Now you are asking why you will get ready? Don't you want to go to his party?"

"No, mom. I don't want to."

Her mother was startled by her answer. She then chuckled and patted her head.

"Did you two argue with each other? Why are you behaving so strangely nowadays? Did something happen in school?"

Allison lowered her head. 'I wish I could tell you what happened, Mom. I don't want you and Dad to be worried for me. In fact, it would break the two close families. No, I can't do this.'

"What happened, my child? I am your mother. You can tell me."

Allison looked at her and smiled. "Nothing, Mom. I will get ready in time. No worries."

Her mother looked at her carefully and then nodded her head.

Allison went back to her room. She was confused if she should go or not. She did not want to face him again.

When it was evening time, she got ready. She wore a simple black long sleeve dress with a pair of black high heels.

She did the normal make up which was needed to match this dress. She took a black purse and did not forget to take her phone.

When she looked for her mother, her mother was ready already.

"My daughter is so beautiful." She kissed her forehead and said.

"Thanks, Mom. You look pretty too."

She chuckled. "I am getting old."

"No, my parents can't get old. You and Dad, both are still young."

Her mother laughed at her words and shook her head.

"Now let's go."

They got in their car and headed to the pack house.

She had never taken her father's car to go to the school. First, she did not know how to drive and secondly, her father needed it more than her.

As a result, she did not use it for herself.

They arrived at the pack house. Their driver opened the doors for them.

Allison could see how beautifully decorated the pack house was. It appeared to be a massive party.

She took a deep breath and entered the house with her mother.

She could see a few guests were here and there. The party had just begun. It would continue till late at night.

She was just about to look for Alpha Neil and Luna Ella when her eyes fell on the stairs which were close to where she was standing.

She saw Ryan coming down. She looked away immediately.

But her fate was not on her side. Because her mother summoned the devil herself.

"Ryan."
