

Chapter 1052 Also A Copy

"Ha-ha! I think I'll throw up!"

Alec sneered and retched. He had just swallowed the two contracts and was holding his stomach with satisfaction.

"What can you do now? You better get out of here right now." Alec patted his belly and continued to mock Trevor. "Ha-ha, you are so naive. There's no way you can defeat me!"

Alec's attitude even managed to amuse Caitlin who smiled and nodded slightly.

Although Alec acted exaggeratedly, she still found it funny.

It was precisely this result that Alec wanted to achieve.

He had long heard that Caitlin Sanderson was arrogant and liked things out of the ordinary.

So Alec decide to act cocky to please her.

Sure enough, Caitlin looked pleased with him.

She felt destroying Sky Film and Television Company would be a piece of cake.

Moreover, she had no intention of paying Trevor a penny.

To think he wanted her pay him liquidated damages! How ridiculous!

Alec felt very excited when he saw the smile on Caitlin's face.

He had a feeling that he would certainly rise to prominence in the future if he curried favor with the Sanderson family.

He didn't mind clowning around in front of Caitlin now. He would reap the benefits later.

Trevor was unfazed and even have a strange wile on his face. He opened his briefcase and quietly pulled out a dozen additional contracts, which he placed one by one on the table.

With a smirk, he said calmly, "Sorry, but the contract was also a copy. I didn't expect you to have such a quirk. Don't worry. I have prepared a lot of copies today. You can eat as many as you want."

Trevor patted his briefcase with a smile, as if to say there were many more copies inside.

Alec was dumbfounded.

He looked at Trevor in a daze. What the hell! Trevor had just fooled him.

"How dare you play tricks on me! Go to hell!"

Alec couldn't control his anger anymore. He rushed over to Trevor to beat him up.

Little did he know that he was digging his own grave!

Trevor narrowed his eyes with a fierce look.

With a quick movement, he kicked the edge of the conference table, which hit Alec's stomach hard.

"Ouch!" Alec cried out in pain as he writhed.

However, Trevor had no intention of letting him go. He strode forward and picked Alec up.

Holding Alec at arm's length, Trevor suspended him in the air. Alec was terrified.

Trevor didn't give Alec any chance to beg for mercy and slammed him violently against the wall.

Bang!

The heavy sound of Alec's body hitting the concrete wall startled everyone present.

Alec fell violently against the conference table, smashing it. His lower body was stuck into the table and he couldn't get up.

"Please! Stop it! It hurts! I was wrong! Please don't hit me!" Panicked, Alec begged for mercy in a shaky voice. His body was aching so much that he almost passed out.

For a moment, he even felt like he was dying.

At this time, Caitlin's expression changed dramatically. She didn't expect that Trevor would be so decisive and violent.

She was scared out of her wits and her face turned deathly pale. She quickly turned around and ran away without a single look at Alec.

"Ha-ha!" Trevor sneered, ignoring Caitlin. He looked at Alec coldly and said with an evil smile, "Apparently, you like eating contracts, right? Fair enough! You'll eat them all. You're not leaving here today until you've eaten to the very last one of them."

After saying that, Trevor pulled a stack of copies of the contract out of his briefcase, crumpled them up into balls, and stuffed them into Alec's mouth.

With his body stuck in the broken table, Alec wanted to beg Trevor for mercy, but he couldn't. His mouth was soon stuffed with the contracts. He had trouble breathing and had no choice but to swallow the contracts.

At this moment, he was no different from a garbage bin.

"Now, listen carefully," Trevor said slowly as he put the last contract into Alec's mouth. "I won't rent this place. But this is only because you unilaterally decided to terminate the contract. So, you must pay me liquidated damages for breaking the contract. Besides, this table was damaged because of you. You also need to pay for that. As for how much you need to pay... Well..."

Trevor chuckled and clenched his fists.

Alec's eyes filled with tears as he swallowed the last contract. He was so scared of what Trevor might do to him that he nodded repeatedly.

At this moment, no matter how much money Trevor might ask him, he wouldn't dare to say no.

Alec was miserable. Not only had he failed to curry favor with Caitlin, but he had been beaten up and he now had to pay a lot of money in damages.

His only consolation might be that with all the contracts he had been forced to eat, he had saved a meal.

Alec felt like weeping.

How pathetic he was! He couldn't do anything to the young man in front of him.
