

Chapter 177

After hearing the news, Alpha Neil and Ella felt a sense of relief inside.

"Linus, my child, are you being completely honest with us?" Ella inquired with a grin on her face. Her eyes had already begun to well up with tears.

"Yeah, his heartbeat returned to normal. He is fine, and in fact, his health is in much better condition than it was before." Linus replied.

Alpha Neil turned to Georgiana and smiled at her.

"Thanks, Georgiana. You really saved our son. You proved that you are a real friend."

Georgiana was unable to utter a single word due to her shock. She gave Ethan a sidelong glance while gritting her teeth and clenching her jaw. But she collected herself and acknowledged Neil with a nod.

Ella hugged her and said,

"Moon Goddess sent you to us. You are a blessing, Georgiana. You saved our son. It was impossible for him to stay alive. You gave him a new life."

Georgiana gave her a friendly pat on the back and forced a grin.

"There's no need for it. It was my duty. I just did what I could do to the best of my ability."

However, she was so confused inside that her heart started to beat fast.

'How can it be possible? I put an end to him by casting the most powerful spell I could muster. How did this man manage to get through it and start living again? How?' She thought.

"Although there is no longer any risk to him, he..."

Linus began to speak, but then he paused. Everyone turned their attention to him.

"He what?" Alpha Neil asked with a frown.

"No one can guess when he will finally open his eyes. He is in a coma. But he is still with us. He can hear everything. He can feel it, too. But he can't respond to it. But there is hope that he will wake up soon. However, what time, no one knows."

The words he said upset other people. But Ella gave a stern shake of the head and declared,

"This is enough for us. We are aware that he will awaken in a short while. In the meantime, we will assist him in returning. The news that my son is still alive brings me more relief than anything else in the world. I don't want to be greedy. If the moon goddess decides this, then we will accept it and wait for Ethan's recovery."

"She is right. Our Alpha will get back soon." Wade said.

Others agreed with them. Joey went to stand beside Ella and held her hand.

"He will wake up soon. Just don't worry." Ella smiled and nodded at her.

Everyone eventually exited Ethan's room after remaining there for a period of time. Linus said to them that he would stay in the room with Ethan. Additionally, he affirmed that he would recruit a trustworthy nurse to take care of Ethan.

Alpha Neil and Ella were both feeling relieved about Ethan's situation. They slowly proceed to their room.

When they finally made it to their room, Ella went ahead and sat down on the bed. He offered her a drink of water and handed it to her. She took a sip of water and looked at him.

"Neil, I was frightened. I thought he was going to die." Ella stated. She was feeling emotional.

Neil was quite quiet when he sat next to her. Ella confronted him with the question,

"What happened to you, Neil? Why are you so quiet?"

Neil took a deep breath and replied,

"I think we made a big mistake, Ella."

The brows on Ella's face furrowed. "What exactly do you mean, Neil?"

"Ella, we shouldn't have decided on Ethan's wedding."

Ella's eyes widened. She stood up and said,

"What are you saying? I know what he did was wrong. He should not have rejected Allison. I will ask him about it when he wakes up. But, Neil, didn't you hear what Glen said? He said Ethan was trying to make everything right. I am sure he apologized to Allison when he understood his mistake."

Neil sighed, hearing her. He shook his head and replied,

"Ella, we made a terrible mistake."

"Why do you keep saying the same thing? Why didn't yo-"

"I think Ryan used to like Allison."

His words were the final straw for her. She was taken aback by it. "What did you say?"

"Yeah."

Neil told her about what Ryan told him in the bar. He even told her how Allison came to him to talk about Ryan.

"But Neil, how is it even possible for this to happen? Allison decides to accept the marriage proposal on her own. She never, not even once, said no to it. In any other circumstance, Glen or Joey would have discussed the matter with us in some way. And Ethan had feelings for her. He said that he was willing to accept Allison as his Luna. Both of them had feelings for each other. Because of this, we went ahead and made this decision, didn't we?"

Ella said to her husband. But she remembered what Ryan had told her before leaving the pack.

He said she didn't even know what her son wanted.

'Did he talk about Allison that day?' She thought.

Neil sprang to his feet, fuming. It was the first time that he had ever felt angry toward his older son.

"I just don't understand how my son could turn his back on his mate in the first place. I am totally opposing it. He should have thought about the consequences. What if Allison died that day?"

"Neil, calm down. He is lying in bed, almost lifeless. Please don't get mad at him. He is getting his punishment, isn't he?"

Ella made an effort to put her husband at ease. She was a mother, and it broke her heart to watch her child in pain.

"I will talk about it with Allison. I want to know his thoughts." Neil said.

When Allison stepped out of Ethan's room, she had a small smile on her face because she was happy for him.

'At least he is not going to die.'

Ethan's crying face was coming into her mind like a flash. She heaved a long breath.

She let out a sigh after a deep breath.

Her attention then turned to Elora, who was beaming with joy. She was giving a bear hug to her mother. Georgiana was the one who had saved Ethan, so Allison realized that she was thanking Georgiana for that.

'If she is so upset after rejecting Ethan, then why did she even reject him in the first place? Or someone forced her to do so?' She thought and shifted her eyes to the man who was lighting a cigarette while walking to a couch.

She quickly averted her gaze away from him and informed Teresa that she was going to the guest room where she had been staying.

Meanwhile, Elora held her mother's hand.

"Mom, thank you. You really won my heart today."

"Really?" Georgiana asked her daughter with a smile.

"Yes, mom. You are the best. You came to Ethan's rescue. I just can't believe he is going to be okay. I just hope he will wake up soon."

Georgina looked away from her.

She still did not have any idea how Ethan got himself out of the danger.

Who had the power to break her spell and save a man who was on the verge of death?

Her gaze wandered until it landed on the man, who was currently smoking while sitting on the couch. His smoldering eyes were intently focused on the pack house's primary entrance.

The moment something registered in Georgiana's head, her eyes widened.

'Only he possesses the ability to break any spell. By any chance, is he the one who saved his brother?'
