An Understated Dominance by Marina Vittori Chapter 2311

“No problem, just do as you say.” Dustin nodded.

The rare treasure in the forbidden area of Sacred Wyrms Summit was probably the energy of the dragon source.

This kind of thing relating to the country’s destiny must not be allowed to be obtained by the gods; otherwise, there is no telling what trouble will happen.

Before, he was weak on his own, but now that Grace has joined him, he is much more confident in dealing with the gods.

After all, Grace represented the Dragonmarsh royal family and had the right to call on all forces to assist.

“Leave aside the gods; you must try your best to win this martial arts competition. The Sacred Wyrms Summit will not do meaningless things. The top three in the competition will receive special treatment and rich rewards.” Grace reminded.

“I have signed up, and I will definitely compete seriously. You can rest assured on this.” Dustin smiled.

To be honest, Dustin was still looking forward to meeting some powerful people in the ring.

“Oh, by the way, besides these, there is another very important thing that I need your help with.” Grace suddenly changed the topic.

“Oh? What’s the matter?” Dustin raised his eyebrows slightly.

“I have a good friend who made a special trip to participate in the martial arts competition. However, several renowned doctors were unable to cure his sudden illness yesterday. Now, I can only turn to you for help.” Grace said.

She was well aware that Dustin's medical skills were so potent that even ordinary, difficult, and complicated diseases would not pose a challenge to them, unless they were individuals who were nearing the end of their lives and had run out of resources.

"Good friend? What's her background?" Dustin was a little curious.

Grace was the princess of the dragonmarsh. Anyone who could be friends with such an individual was by no means an ordinary person.

"You must have heard of Alloy Marshall, the leader of the Guildmasters of the Celestial Alliance, right?" This friend of mine is Alloy Marshall's daughter, Noemi Marshall!" Grace said it truthfully.

"It turns out it's her." Dustin nodded suddenly.

"What? "Did you know Noemi?" Grace raised an eyebrow.

"I don't know her, but I've heard of her name." As the fifth most beautiful woman on the Beauty Ranking, Noemi is highly respected in the world." Dustin said.

All the young talents in the Celestial Alliance were proud to pursue Noemi's dream.

On the one hand, it's because of Noemi's identity; on the other hand, it's because Noemi was indeed beautiful.

People say that when a fish sinks and a wild goose falls, the moon closes and the flowers feel ashamed.

Even Reagan Judd, the most outstanding genius in the world, fell under Noemi's pomegranate skirt, which was enough to prove her great charm.

"Yes, even I am a little moved by the beauty of Noemi."

Grace smiled ambiguously. "Of course, if you are interested, I can act as a matchmaker and bring you two together."

After saying that, she was still playful.

"No!" Dustin immediately refused, "I appreciate your kindness, but please don't make any mistakes. I have enough troubles already, and I don't want to cause more trouble."

Noemi was more than just a beauty on the Beauty Ranking; she was also the daughter of Alloy Marshall, the leader of the Celestial Alliance clan, and she had countless suitors.

Dustin had no idea how many people would be envious, jealous, and hateful if he had an abnormal relationship with Noemi.

As far as he was concerned, people like Noemi were a typical disaster for beauty, so it was best to have less contact with them.

“Look, I scared you. What about that?” Grace was a little amused.

Ordinary men would try their best to get closer to a beautiful woman when they saw her. How come it’s completely the opposite when it comes to Dustin?

“As a doctor, you can treat illnesses and save people, but let’s not talk about other things.” Dustin said it seriously.
