

Chapter 1119 The Ignorant Cristina

"Don't use your ignorance as a reason to be presumptuous," Trevor said to Cristina.

He then turned around and left with Ivanna and the girls to continue their mountain trekking.

When Cristina came back to her senses, they had already disappeared on the rugged mountain road.

She looked at the winding road in disbelief. It was as if she was still trying to find Trevor and the girls.

"It's impossible! They can never have those souvenirs. Ivanna is just a bumpkin. She doesn't deserve such precious souvenirs at all."

Cristina kept shaking her head, trying to deny this fact.

The gifts that Alicia showed just now were more than valuable.

Purple Band was so famous that the limited-edition souvenirs with their autographs were very special. Those were the things that money couldn't buy.

Most of these priceless souvenirs were collected by the most ardent fans, and they were hard to find in the market.

When the men saw the look on Cristina's face, they could only scratch their heads and find an excuse to comfort her.

"Cristina, don't be fooled. Those people must only be bluffing to scare you."

"Yes, that's right. How can they have those limited-edition souvenirs signed by the members of Purple Band? I've never heard such a thing."

"Exactly! Those souvenirs must be fake. I just saw that the ink is still wet. They must have signed them themselves, so they can show off to us."

Cristina was already burning with jealousy at the moment. So she believed whatever her friends said without even thinking.

She gritted her teeth and shouted, "Damn you, Ivanna! You fooled me with those fake souvenirs."

Cristina was already so blinded by jealousy that she didn't have time to think. She immediately started to trek the mountain without hesitation, trying to catch up with Trevor and the girls.

After a few hours, Trevor, Ivanna, and the members of Purple Band successfully reached the top of the mountain. They laid a big picnic cloth on the grass, getting ready for a picnic.

They had just sat down when Cristina suddenly appeared, panting.

"Ivanna, you bitch! How dare you! You fooled me with the fake souvenirs. If they were genuine, could you afford them?" Cristina shouted crazily, looking like a lunatic. She gasped for breath because of tiredness and anger.

Ivanna was taken aback for a moment.

And Cristina took advantage of this opportunity. She snatched Ivanna's bag, took out the record, and threw it to the ground. Then she stepped hard on it.

The exquisitely packed record immediately broke into two.

"Cristina! What did you do? How dare you break it?" Ivanna was so angry that she pointed at Cristina. "You're crazy!"

Although Alicia explained that their gifts for Ivanna were not worth much to them, for her, they were precious. And she cherished them.

"I'm just exposing fakes and helping the Purple Band fight against piracy. What's wrong with it?" Cristina said arrogantly. "Humph! Why do you make a fuss? I have enough money to pay for these fakes."

With so many suitors behind her, Cristina was not short of money at all.

Actually, since she agreed to sleep with Wilbert last time, she felt that she had found a new way of making money.

Trevor looked at Cristina and sneered, "What if they're authentic?"

He thought she was ridiculous.

These gifts were given by the Purple Band members. How could they be fake?

Cristina held her arms together and said confidently, "Authentic? Levi, don't you feel guilty saying that?"

Alicia, who had been watching quietly, got annoyed. She pointed at the broken record and said, "Each souvenir has its unique authenticity verification code. You can check it on the official website."

Cristina only laughed at Alicia. But she bent down and picked up the record. "Okay! Since you are bragging and insisting on embarrassing yourself, I will check it for you."

A man beside Cristina took out his phone and opened the website.

The man named Bohumil sneered, "Just now, I saw with my own eyes that the ink was still wet. You must have forged these things, right? And you're still trying to fool us? Humph! You're such an idiot!"
