Married At First Sight Chapter 3237-The confinement sister-in-law smiled warmly and said, "Madam, you're so young; you recover very quickly and will not get out of shape. I have also taken care of many rich ladies during the confinement period. After they were in confinement, they actively exercised and lost weight. You can regain your slim figure in no time."

The confinement sister-in-law did not say that Carrie had a miscarriage, and her figure was not out of shape. How could she be out of shape after a short confinement period?

Even if she ate well every day, Carrie didn't eat much. There were a lot of nutritional supplements and soups. Carrie just tasted the food and asked her to take it away or just let her eat it.

Carrie was relieved. She said, "I will eat less. I don't want to become a fat ball. How many days does confinement usually last? It's so boring to lie in bed every day."

If she doesn't show up, will Serenity forget who she is, and will it take more and more time to get to know her?

If possible, she really didn't want to deal with Serenity and the others.

Serenity lived a good life, and everyone around her was also happy, making Carrie jealous, especially Camryn, who made Carrie jealous the most.

The contrast between Camryn's previous misery and her current happiness is striking.

The man she married was Callum, whom Carrie had wanted to marry before.

The confinement sister-in-law said, "Those who have the conditions can rest for a month, just like in confinement. Those who do not have the conditions and have to go to work can usually resume their normal " and work after one week of rest. Madam, you're qualified and young. It's best to take a month's rest."

The confinement sister-in-law didn't know that Carrie was a pawn. She thought that Carrie was young and beautiful, and she was married to an uncle-level Mr. Labbe.

However, with the exception of Carrie, there were only two bodyguards and no one else in this large villa.

The confinement sister-in-law has never met him. She only knew that the male owner was named Labbe and was middle-aged. This was what Carrie told her.

Carrie drank the soup slowly and said, "I feel nothing is wrong now. I don't want to lie down for a month. It's too boring. Others go to work for a week, so I should take a rest for a week. I don't have to go to work. I just go out shopping occasionally. I feel much more relaxed like this than others. It probably won't do much harm to my body. I'm young and can recover faster than others."

She even wanted to go to kindergarten to wait for serenity tomorrow.

The kindergarten will be on winter vacation next week. Once the winter vacation was over, she would have fewer opportunities to pretend to meet Serenity by chance.

Although she could meet Serenity at high society banquets in Wiltspoon, she was pregnant and rarely attended banquets, making it difficult to meet her.

Camryn was easy to meet.

Mr. Labbe said that she should mainly get close to Serenity, gain Serenity's trust, and become friends with Serenity.

Not Camryn.

The confinement sister-in-law wanted to persuade her, but after thinking about it, she decided not to.

She had only taken care of Carrie for two or three days, and she knew that this young lady was not easy to talk to and would not listen to advice.

Serenity was taking a lunch break, and Abby happened to open the door and come in.

“Sister Seren, wake up. I went out to buy some snacks and fruits and came back. I gave a bag to your secretary and asked her to share it with everyone.”

Abby was holding bags in both hands. One bag was filled with the fruits she bought, and the other bag was filled with several snacks that she thought were delicious.

“You’re out.”

Serenity got up and went to pour herself a glass of warm water.

Abby put the things she bought on the coffee table, and then she helped Serenity put away the folding sofa. Serenity wanted to help, but she refused.
