

The Despised Son-in-law Strikes Ba... +120 Points at most

Chapter 1044 Defeated Again

The blast wasn't strong. Shayla and Julie weren't hurt, neither was Liam.

But Liam felt like a giant hammer had slammed into his heart.

Asher's blood smeared Liam's face, still fresh!

Liam's face froze completely at that moment.

The air felt thick, making it hard to breathe.

After some time, Liam snapped back to reality. His eyes were red, and he was almost about to faint.

He had been trying to rescue Asher since he was in Pleyson. But just as he was about to get Asher to safety, he saw Asher explode right before his eyes!

Liam's eyes were red with anger, and all he could think about was getting revenge.

He abandoned the idea of leaving and hurried back towards Townsend and Rohan, yelling as he went.

"Die! Give me my son back!"

Liam unleashed all his fury, willing to die alongside Townsend and Rohan!

But just as Liam was nearing Townsend and Rohan

16:20

0.0%

32%

Chapter 1044 Defeated Again

+120 Points at most with intentions to harm, a bright golden light unexpectedly appeared before him.

As soon as the golden light showed up, it pushed Liam away.

Despite Liam's strong life force, he was injured. Blood poured from his mouth instantly, and his breathing grew weaker.

Liam widened his eyes.

This scene was just like the one five years ago!

The golden light gathered fast and formed a figure that stepped out.

It turned out to be Liam's enemy.

Adamson Chapman!

Liam felt powerless when he laid eyes on Adamson.

Adamson's attack left several big dents in Liam's armor!

Liam's eyes grew dim, and his heart ached deeply.

After all these years, Adamson had defeated him again!

And Liam still couldn't grasp Adamson's true power.

Once Adamson showed up, he moved closer to Liam slowly.

Liam found it hard to catch his breath.

Adamson's aura felt so formidable.

Liam felt trapped like he was underwater with no limbs. He wanted to break free, but it seemed impossible.

Adamson squinted his eyes, stood before Liam with his hands hidden, and spoke in a chilling tone. "Now, you've got me intrigued."

His gaze held a deep curiosity.

He was intrigued. After all, Liam was someone he had completely defeated five years ago.

"I'm curious about how you recovered from that serious injury in just five years and even managed to become a formidable Primogem Warrior to challenge me again," he said.

Adamson's expression was as cold as a winter breeze, sending shivers down one's spine.

Liam frowned, offering no reply to Adamson.

Seeing Liam's silence, Adamson smirked, continuing, "Even if you refuse to tell me, I'll find out on my own. By the way, I owe you thanks. Without the well of source energy you cultivated for over twenty years, I wouldn't have made such rapid progress, and I wouldn't be as powerful as I am now. Liam, you're my lucky charm! So, rest assured, I'll give you a dignified death. I won't let you suffer!"