

Chapter 1070 Briggs

As Laura turned around, she was met by a burly man wearing a puzzled expression.

His face was a mix of confusion and kindness. He looked at her and asked; "Zoya, what's wrong? It's me, Briggs! Don't you recognize me anymore? Why are you avoiding me? Did I do something to make you upset?"

Seeing the rugged man's gentle demeanor made Laura feel uneasy.

Then, she realized something important.

She was currently pretending to be Zoya!

But who was this muscular man standing before her?

Laura had no idea about any previous encounters between Briggs and Zoya, and she was unsure how to respond since she didn't know the details of their past interactions. Speaking too much might only complicate the situation further.

Caught between confusion and panic, Laura didn't know how to react.

Liam noticed Laura's distressed look and couldn't help but be amused by it.

He stepped in to help her out, saying, "Briggs, my sister's been feeling unwell due to some complications with her cultivation practice. She needs some time to herself for now. Perhaps it's better if you stop visiting her for a little while."

As Liam gave Briggs a reassuring pat on the shoulder, he struggled to hold back a laugh.

Despite Briggs's tough appearance, he appeared to be quite the sensitive guy.

With Liam's explanation, Briggs nodded with understanding, his eyes filled with gratitude.

He then looked at Laura with concern and said, "Zoya, if there's anything I can do to help, just let me know. I'd do anything for you. Take care!"

Laura's palms were sweaty, but she managed to nod in response.

Once Briggs had left, Laura immediately grabbed Liam's arm, her voice filled with anxiety. "Liam, what should I do? If Briggs keeps bothering me like this, our cover is going to be compromised sooner or later!"

Liam chuckled at her concern. "What's the problem with having such a caring guy? He seems quite into you. Why not give it a shot?"

Laura quickly became annoyed, tightening her hold on Liam's arm and pinching it sharply. "Nonsense! I'm not a fan of those rugged guys, not one bit. You have to help me get rid of him, or... If my true identity gets revealed, you'll be losing someone as adorable as me!"

Liam felt resigned; he wouldn't just stand by if Laura's cover was blown, especially since being exposed in the Saint Society meant certain death.

He pondered for a moment and then said, "We can't pull off the old trick where I pretend to be your boyfriend like we did with Kolton. We're supposed to be siblings now."

The word "boyfriend" made Laura's cheeks turn a bright shade of red.

Still playfully pinching Liam's arm, she insisted, "I don't care! You've got to help me sort this out!"

Witnessing Laura's stubborn yet childish stance, Liam couldn't suppress his laughter, unaware of the thoughts swirling in her head.

He lightly tapped her forehead and comforted her, "Don't worry. I've already thought of a plan!"