

Chapter 1082 A New Tactic

Just as Liam was thinking about harnessing the full power of the Heart of Life, the Wolf King sprang into action with startling speed.

Despite Liam's gravitational fields swirling around him, they seemed to have little effect on the Wolf King.

The Wolf King was a blur of motion, its form barely discernible to the onlookers. Liam could only see the shadows before him, and then, he felt a dull feeling coming from his chest.

In an instant, he was thrown into the air by the creature's terrifying force.

But the Wolf King was far from finished. With a swift motion, it slashed the air, channeling the raw energy of the elements into twin wind blades that shimmered with a deadly green hue.

With a swift motion, it unleashed its claws, sending the wind blades hurtling toward Liam at a speed too rapid for the eye to follow.

In the blink of an eye, the wind blades tore through Liam's garments. And two blood marks appeared on Liam's arms!

Had it not been for Liam's earthen defenses, his arms might have been severed.

Pain seared through him as he regained control, steadying his body with effort.

The brief exchange had been a brutal introduction to the Wolf King's formidable strength.

Standing before Liam was no ordinary adversary, but a sixth-level, five-star beast endowed with the special power of the wind element.

The weight of this revelation settled heavily in Liam's heart, his expression growing ever more serious as he braced himself for the fight ahead.

Frustration gnawed at his core as he failed to catch even a fleeting glimpse of the Wolf King amidst the chaos of the battle.

With another haunting howl, the Wolf King seemed to express its displeasure at the injury it inflicted upon Liam.

It transformed once more into a shadowy blur and lunged toward Liam!

Despite Liam's best efforts, he remained unable to anticipate the Wolf King's movements, his focus divided as he fretted over the wolves threatening Laura. Distracted and vulnerable, he found himself at the mercy of the Wolf King's relentless onslaught.

In a few minutes, Liam's body was marred by a multitude of wounds.

Though the life-giving energy of the Heart of Life provided respite from certain doom, Liam knew all too well that his endurance had its limits.

With each passing moment, the prospect of exhaustion loomed ominously over him. If he couldn't vanquish the Wolf King swiftly, he would inevitably succumb to defeat.

Laura's heart shattered as tears streamed down her cheeks, witnessing Liam's injuries incurred in his effort to shield her from harm.

She shouted in tears, "Leave! Don't worry about me! Otherwise, neither of us can escape!"

But Liam remained stoic, his focus unwavering as he took back his special power, reinforcing his defensive capabilities with the earth element and gravity manipulation.

Fixing his gaze on the Wolf King, his mind raced, strategizing his next move.

He understood that mere fighting prowess would no longer suffice against such a formidable foe.

Victory hinged upon harnessing his special powers to their fullest potential.

Liam realized that if he could just slow down the Wolf King's movements, victory might be within reach!

As Liam pondered his next move, the Wolf King unleashed a relentless barrage of attacks.

Each swipe of its claw tore through Liam's clothing, drawing blood from him.

Despite his best efforts, Liam found himself repeatedly thwarted by the Wolf King's relentless attacks.

With each blow, blood spilled from his wounds. Clearly, Liam was now at a disadvantage in the battle with the Wolf King.

Yet, amidst the chaos, Liam discovered a silver lining.

His mastery over the earth element had flourished, evolving with each passing moment.

He discovered that by concentrating the earth's element around vital areas, he could significantly boost his defenses.

However, this newfound skill demanded precise control and could drain his energy at an alarming rate.

Gasping for breath, Liam gritted his teeth against the searing pain of his injuries, his mind racing for a solution.

Suddenly, inspiration struck.

Why not manipulate the gravitational field within a small radius around the Wolf King's tail?

Such a tactic would effectively constrain the Wolf King's movements!
