

Chapter 1029 A Bold Idea

Tyler scoffed as he glanced at Yolanda, who looked like a corpse.

A couple of years back, when he had been released from jail, he had hit rock bottom due to his family's downfall.

But soon after, he had lucked out and become the guinea pig for the Duncan family's experiments.

Out of that group, only he had survived.

Despite the agony, his body had gone through a major overhaul.

Since becoming a Primogem Warrior, Tyler had been toiling away as the Duncan family's lackey.

Even though he was just a lackey, he was a force to be reckoned with on the streets.

Then, Tyler had stumbled upon Yolanda fresh out of rehab with no one else to turn to.

At first, they had been a regular couple.

But over time, Tyler had gone off the rails.

Yolanda had ended up as his plaything, trapped in his home all day long.

Yolanda had tried to break free from Tyler over the years, but each time, she would be dragged back, facing brutal beatings.

And as time ticked on, Tyler had gotten a kick out of torturing Yolanda, leaving her bruised all year round.

As he snapped back to reality, Tyler's lips twisted into a sickening grin. Eyeing Yolanda sprawled naked on the bed, he said, "You know how I love it. Good. Now get your butt up!"

Yolanda stiffly nodded and lifted her butt as ordered. She was well-versed in obeying Tyler's commands, lest she faced a beating.

Tyler lay atop Yolanda's body, going at it hard and giving her buttocks a pat.

Moans escaped Yolanda's lips. Tyler spoke, a lecherous grin on his face. "Guess who I caught today? That loser Liam's son! If Liam hadn't been dodging me, I'd have offed him ages ago! I was going to mess Liam's son up real good, but Mr. Duncan said no! What bad luck!"

Yolanda stayed silent, her eyes empty.

Seeing her lack of response, Tyler scowled and delivered a hard smack to her waist, cursing, "Screw you, bitch! Have you got nothing to say? Are you still feeling sorry for Liam? Speak up. Damn it!"

Unbeknownst to Tyler, mentioning Liam sparked a flicker of emotion in Yolanda's vacant gaze.

Suddenly, memories of the man who had always been kind to her flooded her mind.

Liam's face slowly came into focus.

She recalled how he had saved her life multiple times, yet she had still walked away from him.

Yolanda's heart clenched as if gripped by an invisible hand.

She knew she had wronged Liam, not appreciating his kindness from the start.

Her mind raced, finding solace in reminiscing about her past struggles.

Maybe all that suffering was just payback?

Then, a daring thought struck her.

She wanted to save Liam's son!