An Understated Dominance by Marina Vittori Chapter 2324

Chapter 2324

At dusk, in the back kitchen of the restaurant.

Dustin stood in front of the alchemy furnace, using mystical pure energy to carefully control the temperature of the furnace fire.

Grace worked very efficiently. In just one hour, he collected all the precious medicinal materials and ordered someone to deliver a high-quality alchemy furnace.

Dustin followed the ancient method and began to refine the elixir for Noemi to break the witchcraft.

Witchcraft was similar to poison, only more mysterious and unpredictable.

Fortunately, Dustin was quite accomplished in witchcraft and had read a lot of books, so he knew many unknown secrets.

It was not difficult to refine the antidote.

While Dustin was concentrating on refining elixirs, Grace suddenly walked in.

“Dustin, it’s not good. I just received the news that Noemi’s condition has suddenly worsened. Now she is about to die. We have to go there immediately!” Grace said it with a solemn face.

Dustin frowned. “The condition has worsened? How could this happen?”

“My nine-turn resurrecting needle contains the voodoo in Noemi’s body.” As long as the needle is not pulled out, it should be fine for two or three days. “Was something wrong after only two or three hours?”

“Someone made an independent decision and invited the famous doctor Zizi to come to the clinic for treatment. Unaware of the situation, Zizi immediately used your silver needle, causing Noemi's condition to rapidly worsen and leaving Zizi exhausted. "All methods are ineffective in saving her, so Cassidy called me just now and asked me to take you there to rescue her immediately." Grace quickly told what happened.

"I told them not to pull out the needle; why didn't they listen? They're really asking for trouble!" Dustin had a headache.

Originally, as long as the elixir was refined and the mystical pure energy was used to slowly eliminate the voodoo, everything would be fine.

Now that all this has happened, it will undoubtedly make it more difficult for him.

"Now is not the time. Come with me quickly and rescue Noemi as much as possible." Grace frowned deeply.

"Wait a few more minutes; I have to finish refining this furnace of elixirs." Dustin did not get up.

Voodoo was very difficult to solve. Even if he went there, he would not be able to save people if there was no corresponding elixir.

Although Grace was anxious, she could only wait nearby.

She only hoped that Zizi would be useful and prolong Noemi's life as much as possible.

"Hoo~!"

In order to hurry up, Dustin directly used all his strength to activate the mystical pure energy's true energy.

The flames under the alchemy furnace instantly became fierce, and the surrounding temperature rose rapidly.

Even Grace, who was standing next to him, was so toasted that her mouth was dry and her cheeks were red.

"Buzz~!"

At this time, because the flames were too strong, the alchemy furnace began to vibrate slightly and make bursts of roaring sounds.

Generally speaking, when encountering this kind of situation, the alchemist would immediately turn to a small fire and lower the temperature; otherwise, there would be a risk of the furnace exploding.

But at this time, Dustin couldn't care about it anymore.

Saving people was like putting out a fire. Even if he risked exploding the furnace, he had to increase the temperature to speed up the elixir formation.

"Click, click, click..."

Five minutes later, fine cracks began to appear on the surface of the alchemy furnace, which had obviously reached its endurance limit.

The flames driven by mystical pure energy's true energy were extremely hot, and even a high-grade alchemy furnace couldn't withstand it.

"Dustin! The alchemy furnace is about to explode!" Grace's expression changed slightly, and she quickly warned.

Dustin said nothing and continued to stimulate pure mystical energy, his expression extremely serious.

The flames under the furnace were still fierce and showed no signs of weakening.

Ten more breaths finally overwhelmed the trembling pill furnace, causing it to explode with a "bang".

For a while, debris and smoke flew everywhere.

Dustin, who was at the center of the explosion, shook his body, and his protective energy burst out, isolating all the debris.

Immediately afterwards, a scene that shocked Grace occurred.

Although the alchemy furnace exploded, Dustin had no intention of stopping. Instead, he used his mystical, pure energy to construct an alchemy furnace out of thin air.

True energy, both empty and real, completely transformed this translucent alchemy furnace.

There would also be a slight color change when roasted by flames.

Grace took a closer look and found an irregular purple pill floating in the pill furnace.

The remaining liquid medicine in the furnace quickly gathered together, constantly filling with purple elixirs.

After three more breaths, the purple elixir finally took shape.

“It’s done!”

Dustin’s eyes lit up, and he suddenly shot out, directly piercing the pill furnace and then grabbing the purple pill.

While holding the elixir, the elixir furnace dissipated into a breeze, and the flames under the furnace disappeared instantly.

“Huh——!”

Dustin let out a long breath, and before he knew it, he was sweating profusely.

Using elixir to fuel the flames already consumes a lot of energy. Finally, to avert the furnace’s explosion from destroying the elixir,

He directly used all his true energy to create an alchemy furnace out of thin air.

In this way, the consumption was even greater.

If it weren’t for his deep foundation, he wouldn’t be able to support it.

Fortunately, in the end, the elixir was successfully refined, and his hard work was not in vain.

“Quick! Go rescue people immediately!”

Without any time to rest, Dustin collected the elixirs and went straight to the Celestial Alliance’s lakeside villa with Grace.
