

Even After Death by Lilting Champ

Even After Death Chapter 1636 by Olivia Fordham And Ethan Miller-Leia stopped Brent. "Don't kill her. If what she said is true, then my sister-in-law's life is linked to her. If you kill her, my sister-in-law will not be able to live either."

Brent threw the water scoop aside and sat down on the steps dejectedly.

"Miss, what do you think is going on? Our sir has been chasing his wife all the way, and it's been so hard, especially during the years when his wife disappeared. What kind of life did he live every day? Two people who are clearly in love have to go through so many hardships, while these bad people are living well. I feel so upset! Why don't people like them die earlier?"

Leia said, "I understand. I know my brother's feelings for my eldest sister-in-law better than you do. It's all because of me that they have come to this point today. I want to kill her more than you do. She deceived me for so long and made me do something to my eldest sister-in-law, but now things have come to this point. There is nothing we can do. We can only keep her alive and wait for the result."

Brent, a grown man, had red eyes. The last time he was so sad was when Ethan was poisoned. People said that he was incurable and was about to die.

But less than a year later, Ethan came back to life, and Olivia was poisoned again.

Brent looked at Ethan at the door.

Ethan said nothing; his face was solemn, and all the emotions in his body were concentrated in the room. He looked so nervous and cautious; how could he be the same as before?

How could God be so blind as to find ways to tease the two of them?

Kelvin smoked a cigarette silently in the corner and slowly spoke in the suffocating atmosphere, "Give her something to eat. Miss Miller is right. That bad lady must be kept alive."

Jacqueline was injured before coming here, and she traveled through mountains and rivers and was hungry for almost a day and a night. Now she was only half alive.

Although Brent was a little dissatisfied, he had to do as he was told.

When the door opened, Ethan rushed in.

“Madam Wendy, how is Liv?”

Wendy’s head was full of sweat. Ethan didn’t know what she had done, and she looked very tired.

“She didn’t lie to you. The girl was indeed infected with the Deathsting Bug.”

Ethan took two steps back. “So Liv’s life is connected to her. If she dies, then Liv will also...”

“That’s right.” Wendy showed a look of pity on her face. “How did you provoke such a powerful Ashbluff? This Deathsting Bug was originally used on his partner to confirm his partner’s loyalty, but now that person has made improvements to make the bug more poisonous.”

Ethan said, “Madam Wendy, this is a long story. I will explain it to you later. Is there no way to deal with the bug in Liv’s body now? Since Jacqueline is here too, can’t they all be taken out at the same time?”

“What a silly boy.” Wendy smiled helplessly. “What do you think a bug is? It is raised by people, just like your cats and dogs. Compared to cats and dogs, this thing is more aware of its owner. Each bug recognizes its own master, and it is not a stupid dog like a Husky that will run away just because someone calls it twice.”

Ethan asked, “What if we force the bug out?”

“The bug will choose to self-destruct when it senses danger, just like a killer who commits suicide by taking poison after being exposed. Once it self-destructs, Liv will die.”

Ethan asked, “So, we can only find the person who poisoned her?”

Even After Death Chapter 1637 by Olivia Fordham And Ethan Miller-Wendy nodded. “That’s true in principle, but the other party would give Liv such vicious poison, which means she is not a good person. Now Liv’s life is in her hands. If you use this to threaten her, you will not get any good results.”

Ethan: “Madam Wendy, what do you mean?”

“An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. She put a poison on Liv, so let’s put a poison on that girl. This way, we will have a guarantee. If she changes her mind later, she won’t be led by the nose.”

There was a little more light in Ethan's eyes. "Madam Wendy, I don't know anything about poisonous insects. I have to trouble you with this matter."

As Ethan said, he bent his legs and knelt down on the spot. "Please save my wife's life, Madam Wendy. I can pay any price!"

Seeing Ethan's sincere face, Wendy sighed softly. "You two are really a bad fate from your previous lives. Get up. I know that Liv has you in her heart. Whether you beg me or not, based on the relationship between her and me, I will not let anything happen to her."

Wendy helped Ethan up; her face was still serious. She asked Willow, "Willow, this kind of poisonous bug is not simple. I don't know the other party's background yet. You slowly tell me how Liv provoked the other party."

"Okay."

Wendy said a few words to Willow, and Willow left immediately.

When Ethan heard it, he didn't understand it, so he asked, "Madam Wendy, why are you preparing these?"

"People in our line of work are actually very clear about the power of bugs. Although I can't drive the bug out for Liv, what I can do is protect her and be prepared for the worst."

Ethan asked, "What kind of it?"

"It's a heart-protecting bug. If the bug encounters a path of self-destruction, it will hatch more man-eating bugs, and the heart-protecting bug I put in will eat those eggs."

Ethan felt amazing after hearing this. This tiny bug could be so powerful.

Ethan asked, "So, can we inject the bug in Liv's body now?"

Wendy explained, "If only it were that simple. The bug situation changes rapidly. If my heart-protecting bug fails to devour all the eggs, even if only one is left to hatch, Liv will definitely die. I can't gamble with her life and death, so the Heart Protecting Bug can only be used as a trump card, not a sure kill."

Ethan said, "I understand. Anyway, I listen to you in everything."

Wendy said, "Okay, then tell me what happened these days."

Ethan stood by and told the secret of Olivia. He also saw with his own eyes how the bug was planted.

To be honest, it was more terrifying than imagined.

The heart-protecting bug was not small, and it had been raised by Wendy for many years. It was a very spiritual bug.

But to see such a small bug enter Olivia's body with his own eyes, even Ethan, a big man, has goose bumps all over his back.

Wendy asked, "So the woman outside is the mastermind behind the fake identity of Liv?"

Ethan replied, "Yes, she did much more than that. We wish we could kill her as soon as possible, but now we are constrained by her and are afraid to act rashly."

Wendy: "I understand. That means we don't have to show mercy to her, as long as we keep her alive, right?"

Ethan: "That's what you mean."

Wendy nodded, stood up, and walked to the bamboo cabinet beside her. She took out a small incense burner from it and held it in front of Willow.

Wendy: "You are the chosen. I have never let you be a bug. Do you want to try it?"

Willow looked at the things in the incense burner and obviously knew what was inside.

Although she couldn't speak, she was gifted and had a better talent for refining bugs than the Ashbluff people.

Willow took the incense burner from Wendy with a firm look in her eyes.

She wanted to avenge her mother!

Even After Death Chapter 1638 by Olivia Fordham And Ethan Miller-Kelvin brought some food over. Jacqueline took a bite and overturned the bowl. "What kind of broken thing is this? Is it for people to eat?"

Leia slapped her casually. "For a rotten person like you, it's good to have something to eat. You are still picky, right?"

"Leia, I warn you; Olivia's life is in my hands now. If you don't treat me well, she won't live!" Jacqueline used this powerful condition to threaten everyone.

Kelvin didn't understand the bug, so he had to suppress his anger and explain, "Miss Fordham, as you can see, this village is isolated from the world and has never had any intersection with people from the outside world. Everyone in the village continues the tradition of relying on the weather for food. The rice you look down on is also grown by the villagers with great effort. People here don't have snacks or delicacies from the mountains and the sea. This is already a very good meal. Even if you want to eat something good, a good cook can't cook without rice."

When Jacqueline came here, she also saw that this place was built by an ancient village and knew that Kelvin was right.

She suppressed the anger on her face and said, "Okay, then make me a bowl of egg-fried rice. There must be eggs, right?"

"You even ordered some dishes. Do you think you are still the eldest daughter of the Fordham family?" Brent's temper was about to explode on the spot.

Kelvin held Brent and said, "Don't provoke her. Go find eggs and have someone make a bowl of egg-fried rice."

Although Brent was very angry, he had no choice for Olivia.

Jacqueline looked at Kelvin. She had learned everyone's personality along the way. Kelvin was obviously the calmest one.

Jacqueline said, "Untie me. My blood circulation is not good. If my hand is broken, I wonder if the poisonous bug in my body will be affected? If your madam is involved, I will not be responsible for any consequences. Anyway, I am just a worthless life, but she is different. Olivia is the granddaughter of Mason, the jewel in the crown of the Fordham family, and the daughter-in-law of the Miller family. It is worth it to exchange my rotten life for hers."

Leia heard this and raised her palm to slap Jacqueline twice.

How can there be such a shameless woman in this world!

She planned everything and caused the destruction of other people's families. She had no guilt at all. Instead, she was still showing off her power. It was really disgusting!

Kelvin: "Miss, don't bother with her."

Leia suppressed her anger. "She is very scheming. If she is untied and escapes, the consequences will be disastrous."

Kelvin couldn't make this decision. He had to wait for Ethan to come out and make a decision.

"Let's talk about it later."

Just then, a crisp bell sound came from his ear.

A little girl came out of the bamboo house. Kelvin looked at Willow. She was taller than she was when he first saw her. The only thing that didn't change were her green eyes, without any emotion.

Willow walked towards Jacqueline step by step.

Jacqueline looked at Willow. After knowing that she was Olivia's daughter, she snorted coldly, "She is not a freak. She can't even speak. Her eyes are green. What kind of mutation is it?"

"Are you sick? She is just a four-year-old girl. She didn't even let a child go." Leia was originally a person with a stable temper, but Jacqueline forced her into a corner.

Willow made a gesture, signaling for Leia to calm down.

Kelvin also stopped Leia. There was something wrong with Jacqueline. She seemed to be deliberately provoking others. What was her purpose?

Jacqueline: "What are you looking at, weird..."

Before Jacqueline could finish her line, Willow suddenly pinched her chin and forced her to open her mouth.

Before Jacqueline could react, something was fed into her mouth.

Even After Death Chapter 1639 by Olivia Fordham And Ethan Miller-Willow threw a poisonous bug into Jacqueline's mouth without changing her expression.

Jacqueline clearly felt something soft entering her mouth, and it was a living thing that was wriggling!

"Ah!!"

Jacqueline's scream resounded through the sky.

"It's so noisy."

Leia stuffed the gauze into her mouth, and Jacqueline swallowed the bug before she could react.

She didn't know if it was her illusion, but she could even clearly feel that the bug was sliding down her esophagus little by little.

At this moment, she felt like there were ants crawling all over her body, which made her feel extremely nauseous.

Willow confirmed that she had swallowed the poisonous bug, and then she took off the gauze.

Jacqueline immediately knelt on the ground and tried to spit out the worm like crazy.

No matter how nauseous she was, because she had not eaten for more than 20 hours, she only vomited bile.

She stared at Willow fiercely. "What on earth did you feed me?"

Willow made a gesture to her. Leia didn't understand the bug and couldn't quite understand it, but she could vaguely guess that it wasn't a good thing.

At this moment, Ethan walked out of the room. He came with murderous intent, and his eyes were cold. "This is the heart-eating bug."

Jacqueline stopped retching, and from Ethan's expression, she knew that this was not a good thing.

Jacqueline said, "You actually gave me this kind of thing; don't you want Olivia to live?"

Wendy's voice came in a turbid and powerful voice: "Don't worry, the heart-eating bug won't take your life for the time being; it will only make you suffer on the night of the full moon. If you want the antidote, let your people remove the bug from Liv's body first."

Jacqueline stared at Wendy fiercely and said, "I'm not scared."

She finally got the initiative in the matter, and Jacqueline naturally would not let go of this good opportunity easily.

Olivia was such a good hostage, she wanted to make good use of it!

Wendy said, "If you don't believe it, you can give it a try. Anyway, Liv's fate is connected with yours now. As long as you are alive, she will be fine. Tonight is the full moon night."

Wendy waved her hand and said, "Untie her. She does not look very good. For Liv's sake, don't torture her for the time being. If she dies suddenly due to excessive weakness, even the great immortals can't save Liv."

Kelvin glanced at Ethan until Ethan agreed, "Listen to Madam Wendy."

He then untied Jacqueline.

After being tied up for a day, Jacqueline's hands were almost unconscious, and there were deep rope marks on her wrists, which made her feel terrible.

She slowly moved her hands and feet and pointed to her wet clothes. "I want to take a shower and change clothes!"

Ethan ordered coldly, "Do as you say."

After all, it was easy to catch a cold when wearing wet clothes, and it could be fatal if a person catches a cold when he is too weak.

Olivia's life was in her hands, and Ethan didn't dare to take risks with Olivia.

Jacqueline pointed at Leia and said, "My hand hurts, so I asked her to help me take a bath."

"You!" Leia hated her to the core.

Jacqueline narrowed her eyes. "What? You don't want to?"

Thinking that Olivia was still unconscious, Leia had no choice.

"Okay, I promise you."

There was no shower here, only a wooden tub.

There were only two people left in the room. Jacqueline opened her arms and asked, "What are you doing? Take off your clothes for me."

Leia had no choice but to do as she was told.

Jacqueline sneered, "So, even if you are the eldest lady of the Millers, you can't get rid of your cheap life."

Even After Death Chapter 1640 by Olivia Fordham And Ethan Miller-Leia had a cold face, but her hands did not stop moving.

Jacqueline said, "You must want to kill me, right? I've played all of you around, but you just can't kill me. Not only that, you have to serve me."

"Bang!"

Leia pushed Jacqueline into the water fiercely, and Jacqueline's head was pressed down by her.

Jacqueline's two hands took advantage of the edge of the bathtub and tried to struggle out, but Leia didn't give her the chance at all.

Leia was a typical, ruthless person who didn't talk much. She waited until she was almost done before grabbing Jacqueline's hair and pulling her up.

Jacqueline had just taken a few breaths of fresh air when Leia pressed her down fiercely again.

After repeating this several times, Leia pulled her hair and said word by word, "I can't kill you, but I have plenty of strength and means. Do you want to try them all?"

Leia's upper body was already wet. Leia pulled Jacqueline's hair with great force, almost pulling her scalp up.

Under the violent pulling, Leia's mouth curled up with a strange smile.

At this moment, Olivia, who had been in a coma, opened her eyes without warning.

Ethan came forward excitedly and said, "Liv, are you okay? You..."

Olivia reacted greatly and grabbed the edge of the bed and retched, but she couldn't vomit anything.

She pinched her neck with both hands and seemed to be in great pain.

"Madam Wendy, come and see what happened to Liv!"

Ethan saw her painful expression, and he didn't know witchcraft, so he didn't dare to touch Olivia.

Wendy came in, stretched out her hand to stop Ethan, and asked, "What did you do to her?"

"Liv was like this as soon as she opened her eyes. I didn't do anything."

"Something's wrong. It's not hers. It must be Jacqueline." Wendy looked at Ethan with a serious face and said, "You watch Liv carefully and don't let her do anything stupid."

"Yes." Ethan stretched out his hand and wanted to hug Olivia in his arms. Olivia was sweating profusely. The room temperature was suitable, but she looked like she was fished out of the water.

After a moment of calming down, Olivia's emotions slowly calmed down.

Ethan approached her cautiously. "Liv, are you okay?"

Olivia grabbed Ethan's hand. She had just sweated, and her hands were full of sweat. Ethan didn't mind. Instead, he held her hands with both hands to give her warmth.

Olivia calmed down for a moment before speaking. "I just felt like I fell into the water. It's very strange. There is obviously no water, but the feeling of suffocation is too real, as if I experienced it myself."

When she spoke, Ethan clearly felt that Olivia's voice was hoarse.

"Water? Where did the water come from? Was it a dream?"

Seeing that she was feeling better, Ethan sat down beside the bed and hugged her gently.

Olivia still had a panicked look on her face. She waved her hands at Ethan and said, "No, no, that feeling was just like when I fell into the sea before, and water poured in from all directions, flowing into my eyes, nose, and ears. But the water seemed to be hot, and it was like someone was holding my head in the water. It didn't seem fake, but rather like something I had really experienced."

Olivia's face was filled with fear. "Ethan, what's wrong with me? What happened? Why did I go back to the small village?"

Ethan also vaguely felt that something was wrong and that it was related to the water. Could it be related to Jacqueline? Wasn't she taking a bath?

Ethan said, "Liv, you've been poisoned."