Married At First Sight Chapter 3332-Serenity responded, "Okay, let your parents take care of Sonny when the time comes. We'll come back first to finish the company's work. The New Year is approaching, and then we'll go over and take you back."

The elders of the two families were retired at home and had nothing to do. Let them get together, and even playing cards will be lively. If they discuss this matter with Ben, Ben will definitely agree.

Tania happily went to the kitchen and asked the chef to cook more of Serenity's favorite dishes, and Zachary's appetite was also taken care of.

When she came out of the kitchen, the old lady came back.

Hearing that Zachary and Serenity had come back to see her, the old lady left a group of old friends behind and returned to the village in Sam's electric car.

"grandma." Serenity called out sweetly.

The old lady smiled kindly.

After the intimacy between grandparents and grandchildren, the old lady pulled Serenity aside and sat down on the sofa.

Tania personally prepared fruits, snacks, and various snacks for Serenity.

Before Serenity got pregnant, she was a foodie and loved to eat. During pregnancy, her appetite changed slightly, but she was still a foodie.

"Said you two came back to see me for something?" The old lady asked lovingly, "What's the matter?"

"Grandma, the old miracle doctor, and several of his old friends have come to Wiltspoon and are currently resting in Stones."

Zachary didn't beat around the bush and explained the reason directly. In their own homes, they didn't have to mince words.

The old lady was stunned for a moment and then asked in surprise, “Are all the old guys here? How rare it is. They haven’t been out together for decades, and this time they came to Wiltspoon together.”

“I know that the old miracle doctor went to Johnson’s house. He thinks about his little grandson every day. Titus is on winter vacation, and he will definitely go back to Johnson’s house. I didn’t expect that he would come to Wiltspoon, and he would come with a few old friends. Are their businesses temporarily closed now?”

After the old lady finished nagging, she caught the key point and asked Serenity with concern, “Is the person you have been looking for hanging out with the old miracle doctors?”

Serenity nodded. “Grandpa Jimenez was chased all the way back then and was also injured. He was saved by the old genius doctor and the others. He has lived with them for decades. The old genius doctor said that he used all his life’s learning to save Grandpa Jimenez. He is nearly a hundred years old. However, Grandpa Jimenez is still not in good health and needs to take medicine every day.”

The old miracle doctor said that Grandpa Jimenez’s wish had come true. He has relieved himself and can live one day at a time.

They had just found out the whereabouts of the old man and met him. Soon, he might face his death. Even if he had no feelings, Serenity felt uncomfortable.

“Is there a word of loyalty in his name?” the old lady asked.

Serenity replied, “I don’t know his name. My aunt said they called him Uncle Jimenez when they were children. He was a little older than my grandma and was the most loyal to my grandma, so my aunt and my mother called him Uncle Jimenez.

That’s it. The assistant who has been beside the head of the Farrells in Jensburg is indeed the most loyal person to the head of the family. Their husbands and children may betray them, but the assistant will not.”

“Does he have any favorable evidence?” The old lady knew that everyone was looking for the old assistant, mainly because she hoped that the old assistant could get evidence that the current head of the Farrells killed the eldest sister and her family.

After Serenity was silent, she replied, "It's not much, but it may not be of much use."

After a pause, she continued, "My aunt said that regardless of whether there is evidence or not, she will take back the position of head of the Farrells. It should be hers!"
