

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3358-Duncan's eyes shone with anticipation when he thought of his wedding to Liberty.

Desmond smiled and said, "That's right, your wedding cannot be lost to your two good buddies. You don't have to wait to tell your parents when you go back in the evening. Just tell your parents in the family group later."

Duncan: "Um."

Desmond asked, "Is everything going well for Liberty in Jensburg? If she needs help, just ask her. We stay far away. We can still help her when she needs help."

After Duncan had a car accident, Liberty went to take care of Duncan, and the Lewis family began to regard Liberty as the Lewis family's daughter-in-law. If Liberty needs help in Jensburg, the Lewis family will never stand idly by.

Duncan leaned back on his chair and said, "She doesn't need help yet. Even if she encounters difficulties, she will find a way to solve them herself. Watching her become stronger and grow little by little, my mood is different. After I have arranged the company's affairs, I will go to Jensburg to sit in her company so that she can have no worries. Jensburg's company was originally invested in by several of our families, and I am also taking care of my own company."

"Going to Jensburg again?"

Desmond's smile faded; he frowned and said, "You have difficulty moving now, so it's better not to run around. Besides, the New Year is not far away. Liberty will definitely come back for the New Year. Just wait for her to come back to Wiltspoon."

Duncan said, "I really want to help her. I can help her take care of Sonny."

He asked Desmond, "Brother, what was it like when you and my sister-in-law were passionately in love? Did you often separate and not see each other?"

After Desmond was silent, he said, "Since you have decided, I won't stop you. This is a matter between you and Liberty. You two can just discuss it. Is kindergarten going on winter vacation this week?"

The youngest of Duncan's nieces was in kindergarten, and Duncan hadn't paid attention to the kindergarten's holidays for an unknown amount of time.

“Sonny won’t go. He said he would go to Annenburg to play with his friend because he thought Jensburg was too cold. He doesn’t need my care either. Serenity and Zachary took good care of him. If Serenity and Zachary didn’t have time to take Sonny back to Wildridge Manor, there were many elders rushing to take him.”

“Zachary said that when he and his wife returned to Wildridge Manor, their mother would scold them if they didn’t take Sonny with them.”

Desmond smiled and said, “That child is adorable. Duncan, are you considering having another child after you and Liberty get married? I know you like Sonny very much and are as close as father and son, but after all, his surname is Brown, and he is not your biological son. Liberty is a few years younger than you. The two of you have obtained your marriage certificate and have put the issue of childbirth on the agenda as soon as possible. Regardless of whether you have children or not, you will have one of your flesh and blood. With a child acting as a bond, your relationship will be even better.”

The Lewis family accepted Liberty and no longer disliked her as a divorced woman.

But once the two people get married, the Lewis family still hopes that Liberty and Duncan can have a child; no matter whether it is a son or a daughter, they must have a child that belongs to Duncan.

No matter how good Sonny was, in the hearts of the Lewis family, he was still a child of the Brown family.

Duncan stopped laughing and said seriously, “Having a second child depends on Liberty’s wishes. I will not mention it to her, nor will I ask her to give me a child.”

“Although Sonny is not my biological child, if I treat him as my own and raise him as an adult, he will respect me like his father. Besides, I don’t ask him to give me anything in return. This kid is destined for me; I just like him.”

Desmond sighed. “My parents are just worried that you love Liberty too much and won’t think about giving birth to a child of yours. They are worried in their hearts, but they don’t want to reveal anything in front of Liberty for fear that she will feel uncomfortable. You two are in trouble again. You still have to talk to Liberty about the child.

After marriage, mom can’t help but mention it to Liberty, and Liberty feels uncomfortable, which affects your relationship. It’s better to talk about the child before marriage.”

Married At First Sight Chapter 3359-Duncan remained silent. Now that the conversation has been opened, Desmond continues. He said, “Also, we all know the real purpose of Liberty going to Jensburg. We have now confirmed that they are descendants of the Farrell family. If she really follows her aunt's arrangement and overthrows the current family head, she will take over the Farrell family. You are going to be the Farrell family's son-in-law. You have to think about this carefully. I know that you don't mind being a son-in-law for Liberty, but our parents may not accept it."

Even though the Lewis family had many sons, they were wealthy, and their sons would not become sons-in-law.

Duncan was not the sort of second-generation rich man with no ability.

Duncan said, "Brother, I've thought about this. I don't mind being a living son-in-law. As long as I can be with Liberty, anything is fine. My parents might be a little resistant at first, but I'll slowly guide them, and they'll accept and understand."

After a moment of silence, Desmond said, "Since you have made up your mind, I have nothing to say."

Liberty might not allow Duncan to be a son-in-law in the Farrell family.

"However, it is a little early to say this now. Let's wait until Liberty overthrows the current head of the family, defeats Kathryn, and can really sit in the position of head of the family."

Although Liberty was the granddaughter of the previous matriarch and one of the legal heirs, the previous matriarch had passed away decades ago, and the current matriarch had been running the business for decades. Even if Liberty has many backers, it will be difficult for her to climb up in a short period of time.

Matriarch Farrell had finally been appointed matriarch after decades of hard work. It was impossible for her to let Liberty take it back so easily.

Not to mention Liberty coming out to fight; even if Audrey went to Jensburg in person to fight with Matriarch Farrell, it was still unknown who would win.

Duncan nodded and said, "It's been decades since the incident happened. It's very difficult to find evidence to prove that the current matriarch murdered Liberty's grandmother."

After taking the position of matriarch, Clarissa Farrell would definitely eliminate all those who knew about the incident and destroy all the evidence.

No one would be stupid enough to leave evidence.

Duncan said, "No matter what Liberty has to face in the future, I will stand by her side, face it with her, and give her support."

Desmond said, "If you need help, tell us. We will never remove you from the Lewis family. You will always be the fourth young master of our Lewis family and my biological brother."

Duncan smiled and said, "Don't worry, big brother. If I really need your help, I will definitely ask for it shamelessly. If you are unwilling to help, I will keep asking you until you are willing to help."

When it came to using his brothers, Duncan would not be polite.

After talking about personal matters, Desmond asked about the company's situation.

After the two brothers discussed the current market prospects, Desmond said to his younger brother, "Duncan, I will go back to the company first. You are also busy."

Duncan wanted to stand up.

Desmond quickly stopped him and said, "You don't have to be so polite. You are not mobile, so you don't have to get up to see me off. Just sit down. No matter how busy you are, you must insist on doing rehabilitation and strive to recover as soon as possible."

Duncan smiled and said, "Don't worry, brother. I am more anxious than anyone else right now. I will do rehabilitation every day. Brother, I won't see you off. Take care."

"I'll be busy for a while; then I'll go to the kindergarten to pick up Sonny after kindergarten."

"Won't his aunt pick him up?" Desmond instinctively asked, "Does he still visit his biological father often?"

"Serenity doesn't have to go if I want to pick him up. Hank is his biological father, after all, so he still goes there occasionally. Most of the time, the Brown family wants to see him. They call Liberty and say they want to see the child. Liberty then informs Serenity and dispatches Sonny to meet the Brown family."

Desmond wanted to say something, but he swallowed it back and finally said, "Come home for dinner when you have time."

Then Desmond left the company. Duncan did not send him out.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3360-According to Desmond, there was no need to be polite to his brothers, and Duncan did not need to see them off because he had difficulty moving.

Liberty, who was far away in Jensburg, sneezed twice. Her car stopped at the Fortress Hotel's entrance.

She took out two tissues and rubbed her nose. After getting out of the car, she threw the tissues into the trash can at the hotel's door.

Then, she, along with her secretary and several management staff, walked into the Fortress Hotel to discuss business with clients.

"Miss Hunt."

When people at the Fortress Hotel saw Liberty, they all treated her with respect.

Liberty had not yet integrated into Jensburg's business community. Everyone in the hotel knew that Liberty was Serenity's biological sister and that the York Corporation owned the Fortress Hotel, so they naturally respected her.

Not to mention, even if Kevin were here, he would still show Liberty a great deal of respect.

Liberty smiled back and walked straight in with her people, not stopping.

She made an appointment with her client, but her client hadn't arrived yet. She called her client and said it would take more than ten minutes to arrive.

She was eager to collaborate with others and fulfill their orders, which naturally required her to wait.

After arriving in the private room she had booked, she sat for a while and received a message that the client was about to arrive. Liberty immediately led her people downstairs to greet her client.

A few minutes later, she welcomed her clients into the hotel.

After more than an hour, Liberty successfully won the client's trust, leading him to immediately sign a contract with her. She felt relieved and signed another deal. This deal was larger and could at least guarantee the workload for the next three months following the start of the year.

Whether you work part-time or are your own boss, you are always afraid of not having a job. Without orders, workers won't be able to attend classes and their income will decrease.

When there are no orders, being a boss is even more difficult. Factory rent, labor, and various expenses have to be continued. In addition to the income, the company requires additional investment to sustain its operations.

Liberty personally escorted the client downstairs, stopping at the hotel's door. After the client shook hands with her, he smiled and said, "Miss Hunt, please come back, and I wish us happy cooperation."

"It's a pleasure to work with you. Take care, Mr. Dube."

Mr. Dube waved goodbye to Liberty, got into his car, and drove away as Liberty saw him off.

After Mr. Dube's car drove away, Liberty told her secretary to drive.

The Fortress Hotel was a five-star hotel in Jensburg, and people came and went every day.

Two cars drove over, but Liberty didn't take it seriously.

Unexpectedly, the two cars suddenly accelerated and rushed over.

Liberty and her people instinctively moved back to avoid a collision with the first car, and then the second car collided with them.

"Miss Hunt, be careful!"

The bodyguards following Liberty, led by Jim, quickly pushed her back.

Because he pushed too quickly, Liberty recoiled and fell to the ground.

"Miss Hunt."

The manager, who reacted quickly, went to help Liberty.

The hotel security guards quickly gathered around.

He scolded the drivers of the two cars, asking whether they knew how to drive and why they were driving so fast in front of the hotel.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3361- "I'm sorry. I saw a lot of people standing in front of the hotel, and I got nervous for a moment, so I stepped on the accelerator instead of braking."

After the driver of the second car parked her car, she got out and kept saying sorry.

It was a young girl, and she looked really nervous.

Her eyes crossed the crowd and fell on Liberty, who was being helped up. She asked with concern and apology, "Are you okay? I'm sorry. I'm really sorry. I just got my driver's license for half a month, and it's my first time driving out. I still can't help but feel nervous when there are a lot of people."

The driver of the first car had already driven into the underground parking lot and disappeared.

Liberty saw that she was young and nervous. She was indeed nervous when she drove out just after getting her driver's license. She was fine, so she said, "I'm fine, but you have to be careful. It's best to practice your driving skills in a place with fewer people. Don't mistake the brake for the accelerator like you did just now. It's easy to bump into people."

She and her group dodged in time and were not hit. Otherwise, at the speed the car was going, if it hit someone, the consequences would be disastrous.

"I know. I'm really sorry for what happened just now. Fortunately, you are all okay." The girl apologized again and again.

The security guards also lectured her and then had someone help her park the car.

When the young girl entered the hotel, she passed by Liberty and apologized to her repeatedly.

The first car that accelerated and rammed into Liberty entered the underground parking lot and found an empty parking space to stop temporarily. The driver was on the phone in the car. She lowered her voice and said, "Young master, you didn't succeed. She was hiding from you."

The person on the other side: "If you don't succeed, just withdraw. If you are stopped, just say what I taught you."

Two young girls were specially arranged to drive to Liberty. They had just obtained their driver's licenses. It is easy to understand that they tend to get nervous when seeing crowds of people and mistakenly press the brake instead of the accelerator.

If Liberty wasn't followed by several bodyguards wherever she went, her car would often be protected by two bodyguard cars in front and back, so it wouldn't be easy to cause a car accident on the road.

The main reason was that the last time the Farrell family hosted a banquet for Liberty, Liberty had a car accident on the way back to the hotel. After that, Liberty's bodyguards became more vigilant.

When out on the road, it was difficult for other vehicles to get close to the car where Liberty was sitting.

The girl: "I'm now in the hotel's underground parking lot, and she's been stopped."

The person on the other side: "It's okay. She won't be suspected for the time being. Just let her deal with it calmly. If you can leave right away, leave as soon as possible. If you can't leave, it's okay. They can't get evidence. At most, they will accuse you."

The girl: "Okay, young master, we understand."

After hanging up the phone, the girl started the car again, drove out of the parking space, and headed towards the exit.

But she was stopped at the exit.

Her car was not stopped just now, and she was allowed to drive it into the underground parking lot. However, the security captain immediately checked the surveillance camera at the door and saw the license plate number, so he stopped the car.

However, the security captain could not do anything except ask the equally young female driver to apologize to Liberty and reprimand her.

Liberty didn't argue with the two young female drivers. After she got in the car, she asked Jim, who was sitting in the passenger seat, "Jim, what do you think?"

Jim said, "I don't think it's an accident."

Liberty nodded. "If there was only one car that suddenly accelerated and hit us, it could be considered an accident. But if two cars happen in succession, it's not an accident; it's intentional."

"It's just the words of the two young female drivers that prevented us from finding any flaws. They said they were friends. They had just obtained their driver's licenses not long ago. Their family bought them a new car, and they took them out for a ride."

"She says she gets nervous when she sees a lot of people and mistakenly presses the brake instead of the accelerator. Are both of them like this? Or did the car behind her see her friend suddenly speed up, so she also accelerated? But just now, she said that she mistakenly stepped on the brake instead of the accelerator. The two people's statements are consistent. That makes people suspicious."

Married At First Sight Chapter 3362-Jim said, "They are probably coming for you."

“I wonder if it was my great-aunt’s handiwork or her sons’?” Liberty analyzed, “I don’t think my great-aunt would make such a low-level mistake. If she arranged it, she would speed up and hit me when she was about to get close to me, and then I would have little chance to dodge. It’s impossible for Kathryn to do that. Kathryn and I have a good personal relationship.”

Although the two are competitors in business, either she steals Kathryn’s business or Kathryn steals her orders.

But, putting business aside, the two of them got along well. If Kathryn was not the young mistress of the Farrell family, perhaps the two of them could have become good friends.

Liberty liked Kathryn’s personality very much.

Liberty said, “The three young masters of the Farrell family must have wanted to kill me, especially the eldest young master, Marco. I sent photos of him and Shiloh to his wife, so he guessed it was me. Now that Shiloh is dead, maybe he wants to avenge Shiloh. My great-aunt has gone away again. She doesn’t want me to live, but her method is quite clever.”

Jim said thoughtfully, “Let’s go investigate.”

Liberty said, “Well, don’t tell Serenity until you have investigated it thoroughly, so as not to make her worry.”

Liberty didn’t want Serenity to know that she had almost had another accident.

Fortunately, it was she who came over. If it were Serenity, she would have fallen to the ground, and it would be unknown whether the baby in her belly could be saved.

Jim said, “Miss Hunt, we know that the eldest master arranged for us to follow you, protect you, and listen to your arrangements and instructions. We will not tell the eldest master about small matters without your consent.”

If it’s a big deal, like when Liberty was injured, they wouldn’t wait for Liberty’s consent but would tell Zachary.

If something really happened to Liberty, they couldn’t bear the responsibility.

They knew how deep the relationship between Serenity and Liberty was.

From the flash marriage of Zachary and Serenity to now, Jim has been a witness.

Liberty knew that Jim and the others knew their limits.

She also sent messages to the bodyguards assigned to her by the Lewis family and the Stone family, asking them not to pass the news on to Wiltspoon for the time being and to wait until the investigation was thorough.

After reminding the bodyguards, Liberty recalled the scene just now and was still a little frightened.

It seems that some people really don't take human life seriously. If they fail to dodge in time, everyone in her group will be knocked down, and there will be serious casualties.

After all, she had a secretary and several administrators with her, as well as a group of bodyguards following behind her.

After thinking about it, Liberty called Kathryn.

Kathryn was the young mistress of the Farrell family. After Clarissa went on a long trip, the Farrell family was temporarily handed over to Kathryn to manage so that Kathryn could investigate her brothers faster.

Kathryn didn't have a deep relationship with her brothers, and Liberty believed that she would check it out.

Kathryn quickly answered Liberty's call; she said, "Liberty, what's the matter?"
