

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free, Chapter 557

557 PROVING THEIR POINT (2)

Eron and Dyne's intention was not bad, they even tangled in altercation with the warriors, who talked bad about Iris. 1

"Don't worry, I will not send them to the dungeon or chase after the monster," Iris replied, hinting of the punishment Cane gave to them and this made both of them chuckle. "Now, tell me what happened while I was unconscious. Cane refused to talk about it with me, he keeps telling me that I need to rest. I am very fine now."

"Luna, if the alpha is not telling you, there must be a reason. Maybe you are still not yet fit enough for this heavy conversation." Aliana looked reluctant to give Iris a helping hand.

"I promise, I am very fine, Aliana. I will not tell Cane anything about it and pretend that I know nothing."

Aliana narrowed her eyes. "But, the problem is, you can't lie to the alpha, Luna. You know that."

"Oh..." Iris couldn't resist that. Aliana was right. It was so rare for someone to be able to past Cane's observant eyes and Iris was not good at lying too, more so, Cane knew her better than herself some time.

Seeing how Iris's expression turned gloomy, Aliana giggled, her eyes turned mischievous. "I will tell you, but if the alpha is angry, will you cover me?"

Iris giggled with her too. "Yes, of course!" She felt like she was in cahoots with Aliana and this feeling was so refreshing.

Iris loved Hanna without doubt, but she had never seen her eye to eye, as Hanna would always think of herself as her personal maid and wouldn't let herself to cross that line, but with Aliana, Iris felt like she had a friend. 2

Aliana was mischievous, it could be said, she was even more playful than Ethan. She felt like a sister or friend that Iris had never had.

Probably this was too fast to have an opinion about her, but Iris felt comfortable even in the first day she was assigned as her personal warrior. ①

"Tell me what is it?" Iris leaned her body over, impatient to know what was going on, since Cane looked so closed off about it.

"Okay." Aliana knew this was against the alpha's wishes, but then she was Iris's personal warrior and she answered to her call, not the alpha, so did the other seven warriors, even though, they wouldn't blatantly disobey Cane. 1

However, in Aliana's mind, as a luna, you needed to be well aware of the state you were in and also your surroundings. And Iris looked fine enough to have this conversation. The alpha was only being overly protective and worried about his mate.

"The situation is not good luna," Aliana started.

"What happened?" Iris could feel it, but she was not sure how bad the situation was.

Aliana explained all the details of things that had transpired and Iris couldn't believe a lot of things that happened during such a short period of time.

First, Aliana started with the birth of almost twenty babies in the Riverside pack, while there were more women, ready to give birth within the next month and more within the next, which meant, by the end of the year, the Riverside pack would have more than two hundred newborns, who needed to be fed.

It happened because alpha Gill's twisted mind when he instructed to build the tunnel that would connect the Riverside pack and the Crystal Moon pack.

However, compared to what was going on in the capital city, the problem with the newborns was a speck of dust.

The latest news they heard, Alan, as the new king had killed all the previous king's right-hand men, leaving only those, whose packs were an ally for the royal.

Of course, this infuriated alpha Derick, because the representative of his pack had been killed mercilessly and now his pack was on the spear, while its body was devoured by the monsters.

It seemed, with alpha Derick opened his pack for prince Kellan to flee from the palace, it was seen as him had taken his stand to contra the royal.

Leaving Cane, as the only alpha in the south to take his stand. If Cane refused to succumb under Alan's reign, it was a clear reason for the royal to attack them.

The problem was, a large territory came with more trouble than you could imagine, especially when these packs had not yet completely accepted Cane as their new alpha.

"There is this group that is called as SilverWarrior, who have been rallying people behind them to oppose alpha Cane. They refused to support alpha Cane and merge all the packs under one command. The alpha is considering to let go of the Silver River pack, but the problem is..."

"What is the problem?" Iris frowned.

"This pack will not survive without our help. There are a lot of members of this pack that have been living even more poorly than the member in the Riverside pack. There are a lot of children."

"Can't we take them with us and relocate them somewhere else?" Iris thought if this pack was so adamant to not accept Cane as their alpha, even though they realized they were on the verge of death, it must be their lost. They were a lost cause and they should focus on those people, who really needed their help.

"We can't do that. There is a strange condition with the member of this pack." Aliana looked uneasy. "If we relocated them somewhere, it will not fair for the other pack and it will only cause another trouble."

"What do you mean with strange condition?"

"It must be lady Cyan and her father, who had done that," Ethan said with a frown. "No wonder the monsters around the Goffa mountain disappeared all of sudden. So, she can control them...?"

The two of them walked on the street, while there were so many pack members of this pack, who stared at them fearfully. Some of them tried to avoid Cane and the other, but some of them barged closer and asked for money or food.

"Thankfully, Iris can counterattack that one," Ethan gushed, his gloomy expression lit up a bit. "Unfortunately, we are still clueless about lady Cyan's whereabouts."

"Trion and the other still in the capital city?" Cane asked. He had instructed them to leave if the situation escalated and if they felt it was too dangerous for them to stay in the orphanage, after all, Alan knew they were Cane's people and his grudge wouldn't allow anyone, who related to Cane to live another day peacefully.

"They had retreated, the last letter you received from them in the Howling Wolf pack was the last letter they wrote from the orphanage." Cane nodded. That last letter also contained a letter for Iris from one of the children in the orphanage.

However, both of them stopped talking, as the warriors that walked with them immediately surrounded their alpha for protection. They felt this strong killing intent.

"Silver Warrior!" Ethan hissed hatefully, as he shifted into his beast, once he saw one of them started to attack.

The street was not too large, thus it was inevitable if the fight broke here, a lot of people would get injured as well and some of them were children.

"Serafim," alpha Colter greeted Abby politely, he lowered his head in front of this beauty. "It is a pleasure to finally be able to meet with you."

"The pleasure is mine," Abby said in her calm voice. Meanwhile Koda couldn't help, but frown, because the Serafim before his eyes reminded him of a certain runt, especially with how delicate they were and their hair color or the color of her eyes.

He wondered if Cane's mate had any relation with this woman, since the two of them resemble each other so much. They could be past as sibling. 1

"Let's cut this conversation short," Abby said, she didn't like to make a small talk when it was not necessary to do so. "Tell me the important thing that you want to tell me."

Koda cleared his throat, because he was the one with full knowledge of what was going on, thus he took over the conversation from here.

"I know, alpha Dex must have told you about the situation in the capital city and there is this power struggle for the throne, thus the kingdom is a little bit complicated right now."

"Yes, I am aware of that," Abby said. She was only twenty three, but aside from her sickly body, she had this calm and serene aura that surrounded her. She was the Serafim after all. 1

"Alpha Dex must have told you the origin of prince Alan, who currently is the king."

"Yes, lady Cyan is a dark witch, but prince Alan was the one, who had informed me about the activity of the black magic in this continent and how he was disgraced by being accused of practicing one."

"He is indeed practicing black magic, Serafim," Koda said. His voice was a little bit emotional when he spoke again. "He lured you to come to this continent."

Standing behind the Serafim, the five Holy Knights in their armor, hardened their expression upon hearing that. The tension inside this room was so thick and the five knights looked so dangerous. One of them took a step forward to stand right beside the Serafim.

"What do you mean with that?" "Do you know Decratic?"

Actually, Koda was not sure what he was talking about, but this was Cane's instruction. 2
