

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 553

553 MONSTER ATTACK

"Clean up this bear. It looks so dirty," Cane said before he went to talk with the other warriors and checked a few things.

Even though Cane didn't like the person, who had given the bear, but hearing how ferocious this furball could be in the battlefield when it helped to defend the pack against their enemy and those warriors that had been infused by dark magic, the idea of having another layer of protection for his mate offset his annoyance. 1

It would be great if the bear could bite off the head of that mysterious man, if he appeared again near his mate, so it would help to reduce his worry significantly. 3

On the other hand, Ethan scratched his nose. "I think he doesn't really hate you, you should be glad with this news," he mumbled under his breath to the sleeping bear.

With that, he asked someone to scrub the bear and clean it up before feeding it, yet Lil Thing didn't even wake up, until they gave it food and was ready to leave.

Dean was assigned to assist this white furball so it wouldn't fall too behind them.

"Now, it is us again," Dean said with a deep sigh and the bear whimpered, seemingly unsatisfied with the arrangement too.

"Luna, are you, okay?" Joel asked when Iris came to his carriage to check on him. He felt bad because the luna had to be bothered with his condition, despite Iris reassurance that she was fine and she did this without even have the slightest thought that he was a burden.

Still, the young warrior felt bad because he took so much time for someone in her station, but every time he tried to talk about it, Iris would shush him and look at him with stern look, which didn't suit her at all, telling him that she was going to be really mad if he kept talking about it.

Which essentially stopped Joel from apologizing.

"I am fine..." Iris said, she bit her lip because she felt uncomfortable of sitting down, since she was very sore. She kept telling herself not to do it often, but she couldn't resist the temptation.

It was already seven days, since they left for the Silver River pack and it would take another four days before they reached their destination with this speed.

Usually, it would only take nine days to reach . Silver River pack from the Howling Wolf pack, but this time, because they carried a lot of things and there were at least three big carriages and a dozen carriages to carry their things, it slowed them down significantly. At this point, Lil Thing managed to catch up with them and sometime, the creature would run ahead of them until Dean led it back to the entourage, before it could roam around and get lost.

It was a common sight to see the white furball and even some warrior had grown to like this bear, as they slept around it and used it as pillow when they were going to sleep. Thankfully, the silly bear didn't mind it, as it slept well through the night to barely notice that. 1

"You look not comfortable, luna," Celia chimed in, she stared at Iris with her innocent eyes and she tried her hard not to blush when she remembered the caused of her discomfort. 1

Meanwhile, Haco was fiddling with a few leaves that he found along their journey. The sorcerer looked fine now, even though there was some moment, he forgot about Iris and even looked at her with a frown, as if she was a stranger when she came to his carriage.

"T- try to move your leg!" Iris stumbled with her words, desperately trying to get their attention off her.

"Oh." Joel quickly let go of the topic and tried to move his legs, the last time, he could move them more and this made him was very happy, he tried harder, but when Grace found out, she reprimanded him not to force himself because it could set back his progress. Now Joel could feel more on his legs, such cold or hot, or even felt it when there was fur fell on his legs. Lil Thing would leave his fur after it came close to his carriage window, or even poking its muzzle inside the window with curiosity.

"Luna, look!" Joel exclaimed. He could lift his legs, even though it was only an inch away from the bed and it didn't last for long, but of course, it was a progress. "Look! Did you see that?!" Joel was ecstatic. 1

"I see that! I see that!" Celia clapped her hands in excitement, she was so happy for him.

Because the three of them stayed in the same carriage, Celia had been looking after Joel as well. It was not anything hard, she only helped him if he needed to get something that he couldn't reach by himself.

Joel would also talk with Haco more, whenever the sorcerer forgot about something or he was talking about random thing.

It didn't happen often, but sure enough it happened more than before.

"Yes, I saw it," Iris said, she felt her eyes sting because she was about to cry. The feeling of happiness engulfed her. She felt so proud of herself because she was able to be a help for someone that she cared. (1

Living her entire life and believed she couldn't do anything, aside to be a burden, really messed up her mind.

Therefore, when Joel made a progress, it was also a progress for her.

"Luna, you are so great! It's truly a blessing for our pack to have you as our luna!" Joel said cheerfully. He was so genuine with his words until Iris could feel it. Her heart was so warm and a hug from Celia was well appreciated because she couldn't hug Joel, since it was not appropriate.

On the other hand, Haco didn't seem to be bothered by this joyful moment, as he fiddled with his leaves and stared at the sky out there.

It was Celia, who approached him and told him about the good news, but all the sorcerer did was smiling at this young girl.

Iris felt this bitterness in her heart to see Haco's condition, she hoped, she could do something with him just like how she helped Joel, but it was not possible, since Haco didn't have wolf spirit.

However, the delight of Joel's progress didn't last for long, as from outside they could hear a few warriors shouted on the top of their lungs to let them know about a monster attack.

A second later Aliana appeared on the door of the carriage.

"Stay inside! No one come out!" Aliana said sternly before she slammed the door and shifted into her beast and joined the fight with the other warriors.

"Luna..." Celia came to Iris and hug her, afraid. This was the first time for her to go on a journey and was attacked by monsters on the road.

"Don't worry, we will be safe," Iris reassured her.

Joel immediately looked at the condition out there through the window beside him and watched how three Vermeyes rushed toward them.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free, Chapter 554

554 MONSTER ATTACK(2)

Vermeyes was a monster with a pair of small red eyes, which didn't match with its monstrous body and couldn't run fast enough, but this one, it actually could rush toward their carriage and before their warriors could take the three of them down, one managed to break free and plowed into the side of the carriage.

The Vermeyes stepped on the horses, before it sent the carriage rolled down the hill.

"Oh, no!" Joel couldn't do anything, aside to watch in horror when the monster sent the carriage rolled down the hill and it was a wreck for four people inside, as they hit their body against the sturdy carriage, not to mention there were a few things inside, such as table and some cups, which shattered and hurt them more.

Joel was thrown out of the carriage and he landed hardly on the ground, as he lifted his head, he watched in horror when the carriage went down the steep hill, heading toward the cliff.

"Someone helps the luna!!!" Joel screamed, but when he looked around, he could see why no one came to his aid yet, as they were swarmed with a lot of monsters.

Such massive attack like this one was not common. Yes, they were going during the season where the monsters were very active, but this was too much, even when they finally went back to the Howling Wolf pack from the Blue Moon pack, the monster attack was not this massive.

It overwhelmed them.

But, a second later, Joel caught something white from the corner of his eyes and it was Lil Thing! The white bear rushed to catch the carriage with a few monsters followed behind it. 1

Thankfully, those monsters didn't really care about Joel, who was sitting there, flabbergasted, as they aimed for a bigger treat.

Meanwhile, it was an amazing sight to see how the sloppy and lazy bear could outrun the carriage that went down so fast on the steep hill and actually stopped it by using its body. The white bear let out a loud and dangerous roar when the carriage made a collision with its body. The sound of it was so painful and it actually managed to stop the carriage before it could fall from the cliff. (1

Joel held his breath to watch everything unfold. He couldn't care less whether he was being attacked by the monster or not, since in his current state, there was no way he would be able to defend himself and the only thing in his mind was the three people inside the carriage.

"Al...alpha! ALPHA!" Joel screamed on the top of his lungs when he watched the monsters that followed Lil Thing attack the white bear without so much of a counterattack, aside from letting out a dangerous growl and snarled viciously, which didn't help at all, since the monsters knew their target was in a helpless position.

The problem was; if Lil Thing fought the monsters, it had to let go of the carriage and for sure, it would slide down and fall from the cliff. 1

At this point, Lil Thing could only endure it, until the help came.

"ALPHA! ALPHA!" Joel could only scream for his alpha, to get his attention, as he was pretty far from them and was swarmed by many monsters. There was a high chance, Cane didn't notice Iris's predicament yet. "ALPHA CANE!"

Joel felt his chest tightened to see blood smeared on Lil Thing's white fur, as it tried to defend itself by using only one hand, but it made the carriage not stable.

Lil Thing wouldn't last for long without any help. It was either the bear let go of the carriage or it would be devoured by the monsters and eventually the carriage lost the only thing that stood between it and the cliff.

In that critical moment, a black wolf dashed toward its predicament and ferociously fought all the monsters. It was the alpha and the sight of him let Joel breathed in relief, but it didn't mean they were free from the existing problems.

During the fight, suddenly the carriage was exploded! Dirt flew in the air and the explosion left white smoke, knocked off some monsters nearby and almost made Lil Thing stumbled toward the cliff, before it steadied itself. 1

Once the dust settled, there were Iris, Celia and Haco there, the sorcerer, held the other two close to him, groaning in pain and breathed heavily.

Cane only let the sorcerer to keep one magic stone, just in case he needed, despite his decline health and memories.

Seeing the three of them were alive, the black beast resumed to fight off those monsters, lest they attacked his mate and the other two. In this situation, it was enough for him to see his mate was alive, despite the injuries she sustained.

Celia was unconscious, but Iris was heavily injured, it seemed she took the brunt because she shielded the little girl during their predicament when the carriage rolled down the hill. Blood oozed out from her head, as she curled herself in pain.

But, when Iris opened her eyes and watched they were surrounded by monsters and how Cane, in his beast form, tried to fight them off with Lil Thing, she immediately pushed herself of the him let Joel breathed in relief, but it didn't mean they were free from the existing problems.

During the fight, suddenly the carriage was exploded! Dirt flew in the air and the explosion left white smoke, knocked off some monsters nearby and almost made Lil Thing stumbled to ward the cliff, before it steadied itself. 1

Once the dust settled, there were Iris, Celia and Haco there, the sorcerer, held the other two close to him, groaning in pain and breathed heavily.

Cane only let the sorcerer to keep one magic stone, just in case he needed, despite his decline health and memories.

Seeing the three of them were alive, the black beast resumed to fight off those monsters, lest they attacked his mate and the other two. In this situation, it was enough for him to see his mate was alive, despite the injuries she sustained.

Celia was unconscious, but Iris was heavily injured, it seemed she took the brunt because she shielded the little girl during their predicament when the carriage rolled down the hill. Blood oozed out from her head, as she curled herself in pain.

But, when Iris opened her eyes and watched they were surrounded by monsters and how Cane, in his beast form, tried to fight them off with Lil Thing, she immediately pushed herself of the ground, as she could feel it. The black magic that surrounded them and the thing that had controlled these monsters.

This attack was too massive, which involved at least four types of monsters, which was unheard of, as some type was the predator for others, thus it didn't make sense they worked together for an attack.

Iris gritted her teeth, the pain made her head felt so light, but it was not something that she had never endured before. She had gone through worse than this and despite how fragile she looked, she had high tolerance of pain.

Ignoring her body that was screaming in agony, Iris stood up and did something she was good at. She purified the black magic that surrounded the monsters around her. 1

And once she managed to do that, it was easy enough for the alpha and Lil Thing to kill them all.

It seemed the black magic was the reason why these monsters could work together and was way very strong. The same thing that happened to those warriors from the Blue Moon pack, as they were so hard to be killed when they were under the influence of black magic.

After that, Iris walked toward Lil Thing, knowing Cane wouldn't let her come closer to the heart of the battle that was still going on, she chose the white bear to take her there. 1"Take me there," Iris said to Lil Thing, as she climbed on top of the white bear. Its fur was sleek with blood and she grimaced when the bear whimpered in pain when she sat on its back, but it didn't shake her off of its body and complied.

Realizing Iris's intention, the black beast, immediately followed behind in attempt to stop it, but Lil Thing had taken Iris half way there and it was close enough for her to purify the black magic.

"STOP!" Iris roared.