596 ANOTHER NEWS FROM HOWLING WOLF PACK

"Master, when will she wake up?" Letto asked Dexter, he glanced at Aria's sleeping face. She still looked so pale and he couldn't tell whether she was alive or dead, because theoretically speaking, she had long died. It was against the nature for her to be alive.

"Soon," Dexter replied curtly, he stared at Aria's sleeping face. His expression didn't show anything, but there was this complicated look on his eyes when he stared at the woman.

"Master, your father will be upset if he learned you still keep her around," Letto whispered to him. The body had grown taller now and became more talkative, but he immediately shut his mouth with one glance from his master and didn't bring the topic again. "Master, your sister wanted to see you. She has been screaming and throwing tantrum because you have not yet come up with the cure for her eyes."

The aftermath with the lycan left Cyan blind and some time, she would have this breakdown every now and then because of how frustrated she was for not being able to see anything, especially when their father neglected her, as he focused on the baby.

Things didn't look so good for her, but Cyan should have known by now that her father wouldn't give a crap about her.

"Send Osana to accompany her, both of them are a good friend, right?" Dexter looked nonchalant. Now Cyan had lost their father's favor, which had never been there in the first place, Dexter didn't care much about her.

Letto grimaced when he heard the order. "Lady Cyan might kill princess Osana." The cursed princess and a blind mistress, both of them were not a good combination, as they had this bad temper.

"She can do whatever she wanted with her." Dexter waved his hand to dismiss the young boy.

Meanwhile, on the other part of this palace, inside the king's bedroom, one could smell the thick scent of blood in the air, but none of the warriors became suspicious of it, they had this same stern look on their faces.

After all, this was the warriors that had been handpicked by the head of sorcerer to guard the king's palace.

However, if one came inside the king's bedroom, there would only be a cruel sight that would greet you.

The baby had grown up so much within a few weeks, he looked like a seven years old boy, while his skin started to turn normal.

But, what more terrifying was the fact his face started to form almost like Alan. This terrified the king so much, as he started to put two and two together...

After their conversation that morning, Cane decided he would keep the poison and Iris didn't mind it at all. She didn't mean for Haco to take it seriously in the first place, thus she didn't object that.

On the fifth day, the entourage from the Winter Moon pack arrived in the Diandem pack and was a long entourage that consist of at least four hundred warriors and seven big carriages. No wonder, it delayed them by a day to reach this pack.

"Are they going to attack us or what?" Ethan whispered to Cane, as the two of them stood in front of the gate of Diandem pack, waiting for the entourage to arrive, after they got the information they were only a few hours away. "Why alpha Nolan bring so many people with him? I think a hundred or two will be enough to escort Iris and you to reach Red Claw pack."

Cane didn't say anything to respond to that, but he knew what the reason for it, it was for a show of power, the same thing that the king did when he arrived at the Howling Wolf pack before.

The entourage stopped a distance away from the entrance gate and one of the warriors opened the carriage, where an old man came out and walked toward Cane.

His hair had turned white, but he still had this stern look and intimidating aura surrounded him, aside from looking a little bit old than the last time he saw him. there was nothing had changed about alpha Nolan. He was still this arrogant and standoffish person, who had traded his daughter for hundred of magic stone and then gone.

Now this man was willing to come to Cane to escort him to the Red Claw pack, there was no way he came with a pure and good intention to keep them safe.

"Cane," alpha Nolan called Cane once he stood in front of him. "It has been a while since the last time we saw each other." His voice was deep and demanded attention, his presence was so strong, some of the warriors that Cane brought with him furrowed their brows, as they could feel this intimidation.

"Alpha Nolan," Cane greeted him the same. "It has been a while, indeed."

"You have grown up so much, Cane. I saw you were still a young boy the last time we met."

"And I am an alpha now, I prefer to be addressed as such." Cane subtly corrected alpha Nolan and told him how he wanted to be addressed with his title, because it was very disrespectful for not addressing the other alpha with their title, unless the two of you were extremely close to drop the formalities, but heaven knew how 'close' Cane and Nolan were.

"Very well." Alpha Nolan was tactful enough not to make a fuss over trivial thing. "Alpha Cane."

"Thank you."

They only exchanged a few pleasantries words, but Ethan felt so tensed during this short time. It was a good thing Iris was not there, because Cane wanted to feel the situation first.

After the tensed exchanged, they opened the gates and let the entourage from the Winter Moon pack to enter the pack.

Argean and Grory didn't seem to be happy about this because they hated it when there was another stranger came into their pack and stayed there, as if it was their place, but they couldn't do anything in their current position and situation.

On the other hand, inside the pack house, Aliana stayed with Iris in the bedroom, while the luna was playing with her lizard, which was not so little anymore, in truth, it had grown so much. Iris was so happy to see her pet was healthy.

"Do you know anything about alpha Nolan?" Iris asked, she fed the lizard with a piece of meat and caressed its spine. The color of its skin had turned slightly yellow and a little bit scaly.

HINO

Aliana sat next to Iris, but she frowned to see the lizard. She didn't like something with scale.

"I don't really know about him. I can count with a handful of time when he visited our pack even after Leane became the luna of the pack and stayed with us, he rarely came to visit his daughter." Aliana didn't know much about alpha Nolan aside from what people already knew about him. "I think he is a fine alpha and his pack is pretty well off too.

"Oh..." Iris mumbled.

Aliana nudged her cheek. "You don't need to worry, alpha Cane didn't take you with him because he must want to see the situation first. He doesn't mean to neglect you."

"Yes, I know..." Iris knew, but somehow, she felt like she was being left behind. "I am hungry..." she said in small voice.

"Do you want me to get you something to eat? Or do you want to eat here?"

"Let's get something to eat," Iris said. She felt a little bit stuffy to stay inside the bedroom for a whole day.

More so, there was no way Cane would bring alpha Nolan to the kitchen. The kitchen and the other important rooms were in the opposite direction, thus she wouldn't bump onto each other.

"Okay, let's go!" Aliana looked happy to go out. She was even happier when Iris didn't bring the lizard with her, because the thought of touching that scaly thing made her shiver.

Outside, the seven warriors immediately followed the two of them.

"Where are we going?" Eron asked, he looked very sleepy, as if he was going to sleep anytime soon.

"You look awful," Aliana commented, as she frowned at the warrior. "Wash your face!" 1

"You don't need to follow me all the time, it must be very boring for you all," Iris commented, she felt bad because these seven warriors didn't have anything to do aside from following her around. "Cane will not be here until evening, I think you can go and find something else to do."

"No way, I am going to stay," Dylene protested. He didn't want to get into the alpha's bad side anymore, twice was enough more than that, he would get someone else to replace his position.

"Don't worry about that, luna, we are having fun. More so, having a lot of things to do is not really interesting. It is nice to follow you around," Kian said with light tone and Iris narrowed her eyes because his words sounded so fake.

"Where are we going?" Asher asked again.

"To the kitchen, the luna is hungry," Aliana replied.

"Of course, we will go with you!" They said it at the same time.

Later that day, they received a report that Sofia was going to labor. She was starting to feel the pain, but the baby had not yet come out.

At this point when the report arrived, she had been in pain for half a day.
