

When She Unveils Identities Novel Chapter 8

Chapter 8 – A Miserable Cry

David stuck a toothpick between his lips. He led five hooligans behind him and walked up to Shirley aggressively.

“Back then, your parents owed me money. They went to the police station to sue me for illegal transactions. I paid tens of millions of dollars and was detained for fifteen days!”

“When I came out to take revenge, I got the news that those two cowards both jumped off the building and died! Damn it!”

“You’re the only child of them in this world. I bumped into you today. Tell me, how long will you kowtow and beg me to calm me down?”

Nancy stood up immediately, and yelled at David angrily, “Kowtow? Are you kidding? Do you want hell banknotes? If you want, I will immediately burn you tens of billions of hell bank notes. You can spend it slowly!”

David was so angry that he pointed at Nancy’s nose and scolded, “Bitch, who are you? This is a personal grudge between her and me. If you don’t want to die, get away!”

“I am the one to give you a lesson!”

Nancy stood between Shirley and David. She said meaningfully, “Hey, I advise you to get out of the way. Don’t annoy Shirley. Otherwise... you won’t even have time to cry.”

Hearing these words, David and his men were taken aback for a moment. Then they all held their stomachs and burst out laughing.

“Haha, cry?”

“Bitch, you don’t know that this unlucky woman has already been kicked out by the Stewart family. Without the support of the Stewart family, she is nothing. I can do whatever to her!”

In the past few years, David had always wanted to seek revenge on Shirley. But Shirley married Braden, the most powerful person in Seattle City, he could only hold back his anger.

Two days ago, he accidentally learned that Shirley had been kicked by Braden and the mistress came to force Shirley. So he knew that his chance of revenge had come!

“Well, God Bless. Today you and I met. If you have money, you can pay for me. If you don’t have money, you can pay with your body for me!”

David stared at Shirley’s fair face, almost drooling. He couldn’t help but want to touch her face.

It was a windfall for him to flirt with the woman who used to belong to Braden!

Shirley dodged slightly sideways, calmly sipped the warm water in the cup, and said with a smile,

“It’s okay to pay with my body. Are you sure you can bear it?”

David was elated when he heard that. He said with a wretched smile, “I’m in good health. It’s no problem for me to handle ten of you!”

Shirley put down the cup and raised her beautiful eyes. She stared straight at David and said charmingly, “Well, there is a grove nearby. Let’s go there!”

So, the two walked towards the grove in the nearby park.

Hooligans following David were stunned and envious.

Only Nancy covered her forehead with a worried expression. After hesitating, again and again, she shouted behind the two of them, “Well... Control yourself!”

David laughed. As if the groom was pulling the bride into the bridal chamber, he groaned and said, “Don’t worry, I know to control myself. I have to keep her for future use. I can’t bear to hurt her!”

Nancy was silent and looked sympathetically at David.

He was too unlucky. Why did he offend Shirley who was just divorced?

Tsk. Whether he could live depended on whether his fat body was strong and whether he could bear it...

A few minutes later, there was a miserable cry from the grove.

“Ah! Ah! Ah!”

“No, please forgive me. Please forgive me!”

However, this voice did not come from Shirley, but from David.

“What... What’s going on?”

David’s men looked at each other in blank dismay.

About five minutes later, Shirley came out of the grove unharmed and shook her fist expressionlessly. She was so decent that not even a strand of her hair was messed up.

“Solved?”

Nancy asked.

“Well, I haven’t practiced for several years and I am a little unskilled. I took two seconds longer.”

“Shirley, don’t be humble. Although it takes two seconds longer, the lethality is ten times stronger. That guy’s voice is so miserable. Is he still alive?”

“Yes. He is almost dying.”

Then Shirley looked coldly at those hooligans. “If you don’t want him to die, send him to the hospital quickly.”

Although those hooligans couldn’t figure out the situation, they sensed something unusual from David’s miserable cry, and immediately ran away.

Nancy was not surprised at all.

Back then, she and her brother were kidnapped. Kidnappers were about to harm them, it was Shirley who fought with a dozen kidnappers and rescued them alive.

At that time, they had seen Shirley’s amazing skills. They also knew her mysterious and awesome identities, although she was dignified and well-behaved superficially.

From the beginning, they were shocked. Gradually, they became accustomed to it. Now... They were already numb.

Shirley was the only granddaughter of old Mr. Wilson. How could she be weak?

It was a pity that the Stewart family didn’t find any abnormalities in the whole four years. Everyone was blind!

“Shirley, just now I was worried that you would be bullied if you got divorced. After all, you have been pretending to be a submissive wife for years. I almost thought you were a real submissive woman...”

“And now I know I’m worrying too much. No one can bully you. They can only bow down to you.

Now I can rest assured!”

Nancy bumped her cup into Shirley’s cup and said, “Cheers. A toast for freedom!”

Shirley smiled gently, “A toast for freedom!”

Yes, from now on, she had nothing to do with the Stewart family. She no longer had to pretend to be a dignified Mrs. Stewart. She didn’t have to think about what kind of girl Braden liked.

From now on, she only lived for herself. How free!

The next day.

Shirley came to the reserved private hospital early,

In addition to its superb technology, this hospital also had a particularly good feature. It could keep patient information confidential.

In other words, as long as she was determined to get rid of the little guy in her belly today, no one in the world would know that she was pregnant, which meant that the little life in her belly never existed.

The operation was about to begin. But Shirley became more and more nervous. Her delicate and pretty face was tensed.

“Come on, Shirley, this is just a small episode. After handling it, everything will be back on track!”

She kept cheering herself up.

“Shirley.”

In the consultation room, the doctor called Shirley.

“Yes.”

Shirley took a deep breath and walked in.

“I’ve read all your preoperative reports. There are no contraindications. If you want to have surgery, you can do it right away.”

Holding the report, the doctor asked with a slightly indifferent expression, “Have you thought it through? You don’t want it?”

“Yes!”

“Okay, follow our nurse to change clothes first. Go to the operating room and lie down...”

The doctor paused for two seconds, and said again, “It’s a pity. Have you read your checklist? Do you know that your baby is a bit special?”

Want to Full list click here, and you can also “allow notification” to get updates of latest chapter.