

Alpha's curvy bullied human mate

Chapter 103: Decisions, decisions

Penelope

"Let me go! I'm not going anywhere with you!"

"You still have a role to play in the show! Come on!" he said as he dragged me away with force.

"Let's get out of here! They are coming!" Marcos called the warriors and I could see the disbelief in their faces.

"But Alpha Marco... the other Alphas and our warriors..." one of the warriors from another pack asks.

Marco wants to run away... that means that Nate has won! I could see Marco completely distraught and nervous, scratching his arms anxiously and shaking.

"They knew what they were getting into; they are all lost, probably dead... but we can still save ourselves. Sooner or later, I will get what I want. I have this stupid bitch, so we are safe! Come with me!" he says angrily, and his warriors follow him. But as we were leaving, we met a man who attacked us.

He spoke of fraudulent deals and money owed to him, and they stopped Marco and his warriors from fleeing, and I was with them.

Then, I saw my dear wolves from the forest, they wanted to help me. And finally appeared my father, my friends... my mate. He was still looking for me... he would never leave me. He looked as if he had been through a thousand battles, but I could only see his beautiful eyes fixed on me.

"Nate! Nate!" I called to him, stretching out my hand as if I could reach him. But when Marco was cornered, he made his last move to survive.

"Unborn child?" asked Nate in a shaking voice; I could almost see him trembling. Marco had me pinned down, but I nodded my head and cried.

"Yes, Nate... that's what happens when you fuck a woman and come inside her. Your mistake is that you should have discarded her right away, but instead, you marked her and fucked her again," Marco says, putting his hand on my belly, and I hear Nate roaring.

"Marking a human? You have no shame!" the wolves allied with Marco yell at Nate.

"You're a disgrace of an Alpha!" another shouts.

"You don't know what you're saying!" I hear Roger yell, but the situation is tense.

"Release my mate!" Nate says angrily. His expression of surprise and excitement at the mention of the pregnancy was gone in an instant and was replaced by rage.

"You are a traitor to all the wolves! But unlike you, I want the wolves to become more powerful!" Marco yells, but a group of rogues and warriors appears around Nate, and one of those voices interrupts him.

"What this man is saying is a lie... I am Cornelia of the rogues of the forest. This is my brother Daniel... and we were both victims of this man. He took away our mates and destroyed us; we would rather be rogues than be under his control," she says, taking the hand of a man at her side.

"Marco doesn't want to make the werewolf world stronger, he wants to wipe out every single one of us! He wants us all at his feet and him to rule us, he wants to take the lands from the rest of the packs! He has manipulated us and used us as if we were his slaves," the rogue shouts.

"Do you really are going to believe what filthy rogues say? They are no one!" screams Marco, getting support from the other wolves.

"Don't you get it? Crimson Fangs played god and experimented on mates, wolves, and humans! Our race is in decline; there are fewer and fewer mates, and that's because our mates are humans!" says Nate, and I hear murmurs.

There are warriors from several packs, not just Crimson Fangs, and I hope they can hear what my mate and the others are explaining.

"A mate is a gift from the Moon goddess, whether human or wolf!" Cornelia shouts.

"Why would the moon goddess give us human mates? Why should she give us weak pups?" another warrior asks, and Marco smiles.

"They are not as weak as we thought! Crimson Fangs have made us believe that humans are our enemies... they have alienated us from them. And with that, we have lost the best chance to find our mates," Nate says firmly. But Marco growls again.

"I will tell you the truth, ladies and gentlemen. There is a group that is afraid of the wolves reaching their full potential. Some wolves want us to become extinct, and they are working together to do it! They have gotten too close to the humans and have been brainwashed. Why else would Nathaniel accept a human mate? Huh?"

"Humans are not to blame for anything! It's you, Marco, and your family that created this hatred for them! You demonized them just to make your pack stronger!" Nate yells, and some warriors from the other packs listen to him.

"What do you think this human will have? She'll give birth to a bastard child, weak, and would die soon after; it wouldn't survive the pack, or does Moonstone plan to have a human Alpha?" Marco says, and I hear whispers; the warriors look at me with contempt.

I see Nate roaring, his power growing. My wild wolves roar, too; they haven't left their position near the forest.

"Don't you dare talk about my mate!" Nate shouts.

"Marco is against everything holy! He wants to destroy the rest of the pack," my father yells, looking at me in fear.

"I just want us to survive! For our species to have its true place in history! In the world! Above the humans, they will be ours! The world will be ours! If you support me, you will have everything you want! Haven't I given it to you?" shouts Marco.

"This man has robbed us! He is taking money from our businesses!" the bearded man screams, the one who was calling Marco a thief. This is chaos; the werewolves argue, snarl, and howl.

"I won't let you hurt my child! You're an Alpha who doesn't deserve the title! An aberration!" I say, and Marco presses the gun against me, and I flail.

"Shut up, human...you, least of all, have no voice or decision here," he says with his teeth.

"You talk about humans...but you want my mate for her power...you want her..." Nate says, roaring louder than the others.

"I'll just use this bitch!" he says, reacting quickly.

"Don't you understand that he deceived you? That he led you into a senseless war? That today all these packs have been lost, precious lives, that today we wolves are fewer and fewer?" says Roger.

"My beta is right... today is a sad day when we have all been turned against each other, alphas have lost their lives, your packs will be abandoned, and Marco will take everything," Nate says, and he seems to gain everyone's attention.

"We have lived as best we could, maintaining our territories, our customs, training our warriors and raising our pups. And everything was based on building families with our mates. We looked for them, and when we didn't find them, we chose one and went on with our lives" he says and some warriors nod.

"But what Marco is proposing is to go against our ancient principles and beliefs, and this is what he has brought us! Death and destruction! What have you gained?" he growls.

"Marco has not even deigned to fight me in his wolf form, one on one, face to face, like real wolves. He has only used his experiments, vampires, tricks... humans, using wolfsbane, which is forbidden among wolves.... is that what you want?" my beautiful mate asks, trying to get everyone's support.

"It's true, let them fight like wolves! Let them show who is stronger!" says a warrior from another pack, and a new argument breaks out.

"Let them fight like true alphas!"

"Fight., fight, fight!"

But when Marco pushes me nervously against him, I know that he won't give up so easily.

"I have a better idea: why don't you tell us the truth, Nathaniel? Why haven't you fully accepted your mate? You've marked the chubby one...but you've never considered her your Luna, have you? You talk so much about traditions and customs, but there has never been a human Luna. Is it what you are afraid of? That she will destroy your pack, what little is left of it at least..." he says, pulling me to my knees and pushing me to the ground.

"Penelope!" my mate cries in fear.

It seems that no matter what we said, Marco was still in control of these wolves, and no matter how much we showed them the reality, they didn't want to see it.

"You didn't introduce her to Moonstone for a reason, did you? It's one thing to be with humans and have a human mate and another to have a human Luna leading a pack. Now... tell your whole pack that she's going to be your Luna. Tell all the wolves here that you have accepted a weak human, that she is carrying in her womb a human bastard who will inherit this pack and be Alpha; tell everyone now! Or I will kill her right now!"

"Stop! Don't do anything crazy!" my father shouts, but Marco prepares the gun, takes the safety off, and shoves it straight into my chest, and I feel myself running out of air.
