

Alpha's curvy bullied human mate

Chapter 83: The Alpha of Crimson Fangs

Nathaniel

"I told you, I want the human for myself..."

"She is my destined mate... Not to mention that you mistreated her..." I say, trying to control myself.

How fucking dare he? It was a serious crime among werewolves to take another's mate. He can't find out that I've marked Penelope, nor that I have no intentions to accept their deal.

"I know, and it's my greatest regret, not knowing who she was, I could have prevented all of this. I know that you are still connected to her, the bond is not easily forgotten, I also know that you know that she makes you powerful," he says, moving closer to me.

"That's what first caught my attention. How you became powerful from one moment to the next without any sense. You changed after you met her. You chased her, you gave her your shirt in that disgusting restaurant, you were in her house..." he says, looking into my eyes, I see his madness.

"She was a pig, a disgusting human, it didn't seem logical, there was only one explanation. Part of you wanted to deny her, but you couldn't. She was your mate. A human with an Alpha, it was ridiculous."

"You followed me..." I say in a voice hoarse with anger.

"Of course... I don't think you were even aware of the power you were starting to have. You were so focused on her, on how to deal with having such a lowly mate... that you didn't see the clear signs," he says, and I dig my nails into my wrists, trying to contain the anger.

"What the hell do you want with her?" I ask angrily.

"Power... isn't that what we all want? Ahh right... that's the problem with the bond, it completely messes with your head. You are powerful, yes, but at a very high price. I, on the other hand, would rather avoid all that," he says quietly as if he finally feels free to talk to someone about all this, his most secret plans.

"My father wants me to find my mate, of course, but I'd rather not enter the mate lottery" I growl, and he smiles even wider.

"Stay away from her!"

"She's a nasty mate... but I'll explain to you why I need her. It all happened in the past when the previous Crimson Fangs Alpha, Phineas, got his true mate. But just like you... she was human. Gradually, he became stronger, and he, like us, understood that it was because of her,".

"But the people in the pack found out, and they didn't accept that their Luna was of such a low species. He loved her, but the power began to consume him. He was blinded by it," he says.

"No... nobody can't escape the bond," I say in denial.

"You don't... because you're an asshole... but Phineas was extremely powerful precisely because he saw his mate for the tool that she was," he says coldly.

"After all, he was the most powerful Alpha in the region, he had to get himself a worthy Luna wolf. He had marked the human, but it was easy to fix... the human just had to die," he explains, and I am horrified.

"But... they say the Moon God doesn't make mistakes, and the human found out about his plans and ran away. Phineas lost all his powers bit by bit and became weaker, the distance of his mate affected him deeply," he says grimly.

"It was a punishment from the moon goddess, Phineas said, when he died. He told us his mate was pregnant, he confessed it to us when my father killed him and took over as Alpha. My father didn't have Alpha blood, but he was a very strong warrior with a true mate" he explained.

"We never found the pregnant human and assumed she died. My father understood that the problem was that when werewolves got a human mate, they became stronger. And we started doing this test, we started introducing humans to our warriors, and little by little they found their mates. They weren't as strong because they weren't alphas, but they were superior to the rest of the warriors."

That's what Andrew told us... that's why Crimson Fangs were so powerful.

"Then we did the test with rogues we found, and we started manipulating them so that they would do what we wanted as long as we gave back to their mates. We also manipulated our warriors... they were all our puppets..." he says proudly.

"You are an abomination!" I yell and he laughs.

"Of course, there was the problem... that eventually other werewolves from other packs might find their human mates, and discover the truth. So we started creating the rumor that humans were traitors and a plague. We had to keep others away from the possibility of finding their mates," he says.

"No..." I say, realizing how easily we fell for their lies.

If we hadn't had that meeting in Belle Springs, I don't know when I would have seen Penelope again. I had so much hatred for going to the human town, I feared I might never have found her.

"We started helping other packs, and keep an eye on them. And I must say that Moonstone helped us a lot..." he adds.

"What do you mean?" I ask.

"Well, when we found out that you had adopted a human... you gave us the perfect scenario..." he says, sitting down in front of me, very proud of the whole story.

"You attacked us, Penelope was right..."

"We started attacking all the packs with our rogues soldiers to destabilize them... and Moonstone was our perfect guinea pig to show what can happen when you have a filthy human in the pack."

"You manipulated everything! And you murdered several werewolves in the process!" I yell angrily as Marco looks at me in delight.

"And Moonstone fell completely, as did the other packs. We created the evil and gave them the solution. Isn't that perfect? Your fat mate figured it out... and it was even better!"

"You're all miserable bastards!" I scream, and he hits me and injects me with more wolfsbane. I feel dizzy again and full of anger.

"My father wants me to have Regina and kill your human... but I want your mate's power," he says and I scream.

"You will never have her!"

"Of course I will... she's special. I have a theory I want to test... that she can give power to any Alpha," he says convinced, and now I am at a loss.

How I wish I had all my strength to kill him right now, that Hunter was here to kill him and tear him to pieces.

"You don't...".

"I'll have my Luna, a stupid daughter of a beta... and hide the fat girl..." he says, and I cry in desperation.

I'm on the ground, bleeding. I had promised my warriors that I wouldn't let them hurt me... but I couldn't help it. My mate... my beautiful mate.

"You are a bastard, and you have lost your mind... no one in the law of the wolves will allow you such madness. What you are saying makes no sense, my mate is mine... and the power lies in the bond..." I say. Marco looks at me thoughtfully.

"Maybe... although... Oh! I think I haven't told you a very important detail," he says and comes closer smiling, I watch him from the ground, and I feel one eye start to swell.

"Your mate has something... that seemed familiar to me, the color of her hair, her expression... her smell. And I understood: it's her..." he says.

"What do you mean?"

"It's her... Phineas' daughter. The human was pregnant, and the times match the age of the fat human..." he says, and I try to stand up, shaking with fear and hatred.

"No... no..." I say shaking.

"That's right... she's the daughter of an Alpha. An Alpha human, how crazy and what nonsense, don't you think? The moon goddess really does behave strangely. That's the explanation for her power, she's not a wolf... but she has Alpha blood".

I remembered Linda... Penelope's mother. She must have run off with her baby... for who knows how long. Maybe she didn't even know that Phineas was a werewolf.

And then... she had a chance to get a mate who loved her, Michael. After all, she had been the mate of an Alpha, she would have something special that connected her to the werewolves.

Penelope would not have a wolf, her mother was human, and her father had rejected her. But somehow she... she was ours. And my kind denied her again. I have denied her so many times, I think crestfallen.

"This... this is unbelievable," I say, finally understanding everything.

"What is unbelievable is that you met again. That she was your mate. And I'm going to correct this mistake. Anyway... you will have a beautiful Luna," he says.

Warriors appear and take me out and take me to another room. I see it's mine and there... is Erica.

"Oh Nate!" she says looking at my wounds. The warriors chained me.

"You know what you have to do, sis, everyone has their role here," Marco says with a smile.

"I will gladly do it," she says. As Marco is about to leave, I yell at him.

"You'll never have her! You will never find her!" I scream. But he turns around smugly.

"Oh... I don't have to do anything. I'm convinced she'll come here... right into my hands."
